

SEPP 65 & What is

AFFORDABLE

HOUSING?

Image courtesy of Davis Architects.
Photographer: Ann-Louise Buck Photography.

FRIDAY 9 OCTOBER 2015 | 1.00PM – 6.00 PM | NEWCASTLE MUSEUM

ArchiMEET

SEPP 65 and What is Affordable Housing? Is a one-day seminar exploring the topic of Affordable Housing – bringing together presenters from academia, practice and the community sector to discuss the models of housing that are being researched, built and currently operating. It will also summarise the suite of recent changes to SEPP 65, discuss their implications on the design of residential apartment buildings and discuss the new Apartment Design Guide and how and why it differs from the old RFDC. Come and hear our guest speakers discuss the new SEPP 65 legislation, the Hunter demographic, affordable housing including fabrication, and what it all means for you.

PRESENTERS:

Featuring Aoife Wynter, and Josephine Wing from the Department of Planning & Environment, Karine Shellshear of Community Housing Ltd, and Duncan Maxwell – Architect and Lecturer at the University of Queensland. Regional IT will also be presenting an ArchiTECH talk on the use of architectural software to work remotely and securely from anywhere in the world; for large and small businesses.

TO REGISTER ONLINE CLICK HERE or EMAIL newcastle@architecture.com.au

All Members $50 | Graduates $30 | Students $20 | Non Members $85 (All registrations include lunch, afternoon tea, conference materials, 4 formal CPD Points). Optional Architects Dinner $40pp at 6pm. Bookings essential. Registration closes Monday 5 September 2015.

This event is proudly sponsored by:

