The masterplan links new and interesting spaces together clearly defined and visually distinctive. Terraces have been created, with the excavated fill used to modulate the site. A number of movement areas are created to not only link spaces but also become usable and interest in their own right.