Situated in the heart of Paris, Université Paris Diderot is the only multidisciplinary university in Paris to offer a wide range of degrees in the Humanities, Medicine and the Sciences. The University has acquired an international reputation for the excellence of its standards of research in all active fields: science, medicine, dentistry, art and humanities and social sciences. It also features Paris’s largest and newest university library.

Even though an increasing number of courses (particularly at Master’s level) comprise English-language units, courses at Paris Diderot are taught predominantly in French. In order to study at Paris Diderot, no language qualifications are required. However, you must be sufficiently fluent to understand the content of the courses and take the exams.

The choice of academic courses available at Paris Diderot is multidisciplinary and covers 4 broad fields:

- Arts, Literature, Languages
- Social Sciences and Humanities
- Science and Technology
- Medicine and Dentistry

Arts, Literature, Languages offers courses in Cinema, Literature, Theatre, Music, Languages, etc. Its originality lies in the diversity and the offering of courses that associate Art History, Film Studies, Social Sciences and Literature.

Sample units potentially available:

Semestre 1 (USyd Semester 2):
- Analyse textes littéraires
- Histoire littéraire 1
- Initiation à l’écrit universitaire

Semestre 2 (USyd Semester 1):
- Lectures d’œuvres narratives
- Histoire littéraire 2
- Histoire de l’art
- Lecture de textes philosophiques

For more information, please contact:
Bureau des relations internationales (International Relations Office)
5 rue Thomas-Mann, 75013 Paris
Case courrier 7140
E-mail address: accueilentrants@univ-paris-diderot.fr