ICLS is a vibrant, innovative and interdisciplinary program in the School of Languages and Cultures (SLC) taught by lecturers from 10 different language departments as well as the Department of English in the School of Letters, Art and Media (SLAM). Built upon comparative literary theories, our rich and diverse program offers an Honours program that is personally rewarding and helps to prepare you for a range of possible career paths. You will be genuinely surprised to see how the world is interlinked theoretically, sociologically and culturally through the study of our thematic comparative literary Honours seminars.

Entry into an Honours year requires completion of 48 senior credit points in the subject area with an average of 70% or above. At least 36 senior credit points must be from ICLS units including exchange units, and 12 senior credit points can be from non-ICLS units as listed in the unit of study table. A reading knowledge of one language other than English is also required. Students not meeting these criteria may apply for special permission from the Director of ICLS.
