

COMMERCE CADETSHIPS

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY
BUSINESS SCHOOL

Students enrolled in the Bachelor of Commerce can study and complete a cadetship with a leading business organisation.

Our cadets are supported in their development as business professionals in a way that complements the practical skills they are acquiring in the workplace, greatly increasing their value as well rounded employees.

THE CADETSHIP PROGRAM

Depending on their work commitments, cadets may choose to alternate studying part time and full time throughout their degree.

Units of study are offered on campus in blocks on particular days of the week. This allows cadets to condense the time spent on campus completing the requirements of their degree, while also facilitating the development of valuable academic and professional networks and access to the Business School's comprehensive range of academic and professional support services.

SPECIALISATIONS AVAILABLE

All Bachelor of Commerce students complete core units of study covering the fundamental theory and practice of contemporary business.

Cadetship students then choose to complete a major in one or two of:

- Accounting
- Finance
- Business Law.

THE EMPLOYING ORGANISATIONS

Our 2011 intake of Bachelor of Commerce cadetship students included cadets from Ernst & Young and PwC amongst others. These cadets are currently completing majors according to the requirements of their employing organisation as well as their own interests and strengths.

"I always knew that the University of Sydney had one of the best business degrees in the country. The revitalised Bachelor of Commerce opened up the option for cadetship students to study at the University of Sydney Business School and I jumped at the chance!"

BENEFITS TO EMPLOYING ORGANISATIONS

Studying the theoretical underpinnings of modern business practice allows cadets to make more considered and better informed decisions in their current workplace role.

Exposure to other talented students seeking to succeed in the business world also broadens their professional networks, to the strategic benefit of their employer as well as to themselves.

Cadets have access to the full range of Business School support services to assist in their academic, professional and personal development. These include workshops and other services designed to ensure a smooth transition to tertiary study, mentoring and peer-assisted study sessions to improve academic performance, and a wide range of other services tailored to meet individual needs.

Students also have access to the Business School's Careers and Employer Relations Office (CEO), a business-specific career support service that offers assistance with career planning and development and acts as a link between employers and students.

THE BACHELOR OF COMMERCE

Designed in consultation with industry leaders, graduate recruiters, current students and alumni, the highly relevant and professional Bachelor of Commerce program places strong emphasis on the key aspects of business and the practical knowledge needed by professionals to thrive in today's global business market.

It combines theory with practice to teach students how businesses operate and provides them with the analytical and technical skills to apply their knowledge to address real-world issues as informed business professionals.

Students gain a comprehensive grounding in commerce generally, as well as in their particular area of specialisation (see over), and learn to use their knowledge effectively to formulate and implement sustainable solutions in business.
