

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY BUSINESS SCHOOL

COMMITTED TO DEVELOPING
TOMORROW'S BUSINESS LEADERS

We offer the most globally recognised business qualifications in the Asia-Pacific region, developed in consultation with industry leaders, backed by international accreditations and strengthened by global alliances with leading business and management education institutions around the world.

The University of Sydney Business School undergraduate, postgraduate and research programs in all fields of business have a contemporary real-world focus and include plenty of opportunities for students to gain practical industry experience while completing their degree. We attract the brightest business talent from Australia and around the world, and nurture that talent to flourish to its full potential.

REAL-WORLD, PROFESSIONALLY RELEVANT TEACHING

Our teachers are practising business professionals as well as outstanding academics, many leading their fields internationally. They demonstrate to students how to translate theoretical knowledge and technical skills into practice to create and deliver business solutions that have real-world impact. All our teaching and other activities are regularly reviewed by a distinguished Board of Advice, comprising corporate leaders and directors and other business, legal and consulting professionals. They ensure that our activities remain relevant to the needs of the contemporary business community and responsive to emerging practices and opportunities in business and the professions.

MEANINGFUL RESEARCH

Research is at the heart of everything we do. It informs our teaching as well as contemporary business practice, policy and regulation both nationally and internationally. Our researchers are globally regarded as leading public academics. They currently hold public research grants valued at more than $6.5 million, and since 2003 the Business School has generated more than $29 million in research income. With a reputation for research excellence, the expertise of our staff is frequently sought by major international bodies, governments, industry groups and individual companies. Our staff are also regularly called on by the media to comment on contemporary issues and debates within their sphere of expertise.

RESEARCH-LED TEACHING

Because many of our teaching staff are also engaged in groundbreaking research, our teaching is always at the forefront of new developments in global business knowledge and emerging practice. Our research informs our teaching, genuinely advances knowledge and is applied to meet the challenges faced by business, industry, government and the broader community.

LOCATION AND FACILITIES

Located on the main campus of the University of Sydney, our environment is a dynamic mix of sandstone tradition, modern architecture and world-class sporting and entertainment facilities, all conveniently situated near the heart of Sydney and all it has to offer.

GLOBAL REPUTATION FOR EXCELLENCE

Our commitment to achieving excellence has earned us the top international accreditations and memberships available to business schools worldwide, and enabled us to forge strategic alliances on a global scale. With a commitment to excellence in providing practical education, transformative research and engagement with industry and the community, we have an unparalleled reputation and a significant influence on local, national, regional and global business. Our graduates enjoy recognition and respect from the global business community.

WORLD-CLASS SUPPORT PROGRAMS

In addition to the extensive range of University-wide support services, the Business School offers a suite of business-specific support services to our students. These include peer mentoring and support programs and the world's first business-specific careers and employer-relations office, dedicated to setting our students on the path to an outstanding business career.

A RICH LIFE BEYOND STUDY

Outside the classroom, we offer our students a rich social life with plenty of opportunities to engage with our active and dynamic community of like-minded people. We run business-inspired events and activities throughout the year, and support a wide range of business-related clubs and societies that encourage all students to become more deeply involved in their areas of particular interests.

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREES

Our undergraduate degrees are structured flexibly so students can explore all their interests, studying and engaging with a wide range of subject areas across the University including law, science and arts. They get a well-rounded education that nurtures their natural sense of enquiry and allows them to follow their passions.

Areas of undergraduate specialisation include:

- accounting
- business information systems
- commercial law
- econometrics
- finance
- industrial relations and human resource management
- international business
- management
- marketing
- operations management and decision sciences.

POSTGRADUATE DEGREES

Our postgraduate degrees offer an opportunity to specialise in one of a range of fields, as well as to gain professional accreditation in a particular industry. Gaining a globally recognised postgraduate qualification from the University of Sydney Business School allows practising business professionals to take their career to the next level – or in a completely new direction.

Areas of postgraduate study include:

- accounting
- commerce
- human resource management and industrial relations
- innovation and enterprise
- international business
- international business and law
- logistics management
- management
- marketing
- transport management
- global executive MBA.

RESEARCH DEGREES

With more than 180 research students currently enrolled, we have one of the largest and most diverse higher-degree research programs in the Asia–Pacific region. Our research community incorporates academics, students, corporate and government partners as well as other universities and research institutions both nationally and internationally. Students who join us are welcomed into a lively community of scholars where new ideas, methodological frameworks and original perspectives are continually being discovered, developed and challenged.

Research degrees are available in all aspects of business, including cross-disciplinary fields.

MORE INFORMATION

The University of Sydney Business School

T +61 2 9351 3076

F +61 2 9351 4433

E business.student@sydney.edu.au

sydney.edu.au/business

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY