

ISSN 1446-8956

Editor

Dilip Dutta

Advisory Editors

Bina Agarwal
 Subhash Bhatnagar
 Hans Blomqvist
 Srikanta Chatterjee
 James Cypher
 Amitava Dutt
 Bernard Gerbier
 Robin Ghosh
 Joseph Halevi
 John Harriss
 A. Y. Hing
 Jeffrey James
 Raghendra Jha
 Raja Junankar
 Liisa Laakso
 Janet Landa
 Justin Lin
 John Lodewijks
 Deepak Nayyar
 Jeffrey Nugent
 Adebayo Olukoshi
 Gabriel Palma
 James Petras
 Ranjan Ray
 Kartik Roy
 Kunal Sengupta
 Rehman Sobhan
 Osvaldo Sunkel
 Clem Tisdell

CONTENTS

Editorial

A post-tsunami assessment of the globalised world 1

Alfred Oehlers

Governance, public health and the Millennium Development Goals: Some lessons from Burma 7

Deepak Nayyar

Economic reforms in India: Understanding the process and learning from experience 31

Binayak Ray

Chassis and wheels, but no engine: Development issues in the South Pacific 57

Kiyoung Kim

Revisiting the critical moment of the Korean economy and labor market: From central control to liberalization 81

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

Vol. 3, No. 2

December 2004

Contents

Editorial

A post-tsunami assessment of the globalised world

Alfred Oehlers

Governance, public health and the Millennium Development Goals: Some lessons from Burma

Deepak Nayyar

Economic reforms in India: Understanding the process and learning from experience

Binayak Ray

Chassis and wheels, but no engine: Development issues in the South Pacific

Kiyoung Kim

Revisiting the critical moment of the Korean economy and labor market: From central control to liberalization

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

Aims and Scope of the IJDI

The International Journal of Development Issues is a peer-reviewed journal. The main objective of the IJDI is to publish research output on all important development issues with a focus on development dynamism and a bias for inter-disciplinary approach. In particular, Economics, Politics, History, Sociology, Anthropology, Ecology, Social Work, Commerce, Information Technology, Law and allied disciplines would receive special priorities.

The IJDI welcomes publication of papers that are empirically oriented, but with solid methodological foundation based on realism and pragmatism rather than on idealism. It encourages critical analysis of development issues not only from the heterodox viewpoints (such as new- and post-structuralist, neo- and new-institutionalist, etc.), but also from the neo-liberalist viewpoint in orthodox tradition. The IJDI is intended for being an international forum of exchanging viewpoints of a wide variety of perspectives and disciplines. It is expected that the IJDI would be a genuine guideline for socially appropriate policy prescriptions made by the development practitioners and policy makers in both developing and emerging market economies of Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe and Latin America.

Editorial Board

Editor

Dilip Dutta University of Sydney, Australia

Advisory Editors

Bina Agarwal	Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi, India
Subhash Bhatnagar	Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, India
Hans Blomqvist	Swedish School of Economics & Business Administration, Finland
Srikanta Chatterjee	Massey University, New Zealand
James Cypher	California State University Fresno, USA
Amitava Dutt	University of Notre Dame, USA
Bernard Gerbier	Universite Pierre Mendes France, Grenoble, France
Robin Ghosh	University of Western Australia, Perth, Australia
Joseph Halevi	University of Sydney, Australia
John Harriss	London School of Economics, UK
A. Y. Hing	National University of Singapore, Singapore
Jeffrey James	Tilburg University, Netherlands
Raghbendra Jha	Australian National University, Canberra, Australia
Raja Junankar	University of Western Sydney, Macarthur, Australia
Liisa Laakso	University of Helsinki, Finland
Janet Landa	York University, Toronto, Canada
John Lodewijks	University of New South Wales, Australia
Justin Lin	Peking University, Beijing, China
Deepak Nayyar	University of Delhi, New Delhi, India
Jeffrey Nugent	University of Southern California, USA
Adebayo Olukoshi	CODESRIA, Dakar, Senegal
Gabriel Palma	University of Cambridge, UK
James Petras	Binghamton University, New York, USA
Ranjan Ray	University of Tasmania, Hobart, Australia
Kartik Roy	University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia
Kunal Sengupta	University of Sydney, Australia
Rehman Sobhan	Centre for Policy Dialogue, Dhaka, Bangladesh
Osvaldo Sunkel	University of Chile, Santiago, Chile
Clem Tisdell	University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia

IJDI is published bi-annually by the Centre for South Asian Studies (CSAS), School of Economics and Political Science, University of Sydney, Australia in collaboration with the International Institute for Development Studies (IIDS), Perth, Australia.

© 2004 International Journal of Development Issues
Printed in Sydney, Australia.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS FOR SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

The International Journal of Development Issues is a peer-reviewed journal. Authors are invited to submit manuscripts that follow the basic objective of the IJDI as outlined under Aims and Scope of the IJDI. A manuscript must contain original unpublished work and not being submitted for publication elsewhere.

Manuscripts (up to 8,000 words in length, including footnotes and references) must be in English, double-spaced and in triplicate. The first page of the manuscript should contain an abstract of no longer than 100 words and information on author's name, telephone number, postal and email addresses. Electronic mail submission is preferred and facsimile submission is not encouraged. It is expected that manuscripts accepted for publication will be submitted on computer disk (preferably on a 3.5 inch disk in MS-DOS format).

A decision on publication of manuscripts is expected to be made within a 3-4 months after its receipt by the Editor. There are no page charges for publication. Authors must have the understanding that once a manuscript is accepted for publication, the exclusive copyright in it shall go to the IJDI. The Editor neither accepts responsibility for damage or loss of manuscripts submitted, nor returns the submitted manuscripts to the authors.

All manuscripts should be directed to the following address:

The Editor
International Journal of Development Issues
School of Economics and Political Science
Merewether Building H04
The University of Sydney
NSW: 2006, Australia

Tel: +61 2 9351 3062
Fax: +61 2 9351 4341
Email: dilipd@econ.usyd.edu.au