

CONTENTS

Nancy Birdsall Rising inequality in the new global economy	1
Benhua Yang The impact of ethnic diversity on growth: the regional differences	11
Ershad Ali Criteria for assessing sustainable energy technology for rural Bangladesh	35
Augendra Bhukuth Debt bondage in the brokerage system: a case study of sugarcane migrants in Tamil Nadu	65
Jeffrey James Information technology and mass poverty	85

Editor

Dilip Dutta

Advisory Editors

Bina Agarwal
Subhash Bhatnagar
Hans Blomqvist
Srikanta Chatterjee
James Cypher
Amitava Dutt
Bernard Gerbier
Robin Ghosh
Joseph Halevi
John Harriss
A. Y. Hing
Jeffrey James
Raghendra Jha
Raja Junankar
Liisa Laakso
Janet Landa
Justin Lin
John Lodewijks
Deepak Nayyar
Jeffrey Nugent
Adebayo Olukoshi
Gabriel Palma
James Petras
Ranjan Ray
Kartik Roy
Kunal Sengupta
Rehman Sobhan
Osvaldo Sunkel
Clem Tisdell

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

Vol. 5, No. 1

June 2006

ContentsNancy BirdsallRising inequality in the new global economyBenhua YangThe impact of ethnic diversity on growth: the regional differencesErshad AliCriteria for assessing sustainable energy technology for rural BangladeshAugendra BhukuthDebt bondage in the brokerage system: a case study of sugarcane migrants in Tamil NaduJeffrey JamesInformation technology and mass poverty

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

Aims and Scope of the IJDI

The International Journal of Development Issues is a peer-reviewed journal. The main objective of the IJDI is to publish research output on all important development issues with a focus on development dynamism and a bias for inter-disciplinary approach. In particular, Economics, Politics, History, Sociology, Anthropology, Ecology, Social Work, Commerce, Information Technology, Law and allied disciplines would receive special priorities.

The IJDI welcomes publication of papers that are empirically oriented, but with solid methodological foundation based on realism and pragmatism rather than on idealism. It encourages critical analysis of development issues not only from the heterodox viewpoints (such as neo- and post-structuralist, neo- and new-institutionalist, etc.), but also from the neo-liberalist viewpoint in orthodox tradition. The IJDI is intended for being an international forum of exchanging viewpoints of a wide variety of perspectives and disciplines. It is expected that the IJDI would be a genuine guideline for socially appropriate policy prescriptions made by the development practitioners and policy makers in both developing and emerging market economies of Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe and Latin America.

Editorial Board

Editor

Dilip Dutta University of Sydney, Australia

Advisory Editors

Bina Agarwal	Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi, India
Subhash Bhatnagar	Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, India
Hans Blomqvist	Swedish School of Economics & Business Administration, Finland
Srikanta Chatterjee	Massey University, New Zealand
James Cypher	California State University Fresno, USA
Amitava Dutt	University of Norte Dame, USA
Bernard Gerbier	Universite Pierre Mendes France, Grenoble, France
Robin Ghosh	University of Western Australia, Perth, Australia
Joseph Halevi	University of Sydney, Australia
John Harriss	London School of Economics, UK
A. Y. Hing	National University of Singapore, Singapore
Jeffrey James	Tilburg University, Netherlands
Raghubendra Jha	Australian National University, Canberra, Australia
Raja Junankar	University of Western Sydney, Macarthur, Australia
Liisa Laakso	University of Helsinki, Finland
Janet Landa	York University, Toronto, Canada
John Lodewijks	University of New South Wales, Australia
Justin Lin	Peking University, Beijing, China
Deepak Nayyar	Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, India
Jeffrey Nugent	University of Southern California, USA
Adebayo Olukoshi	CODESRIA, Dakar, Senegal
Gabriel Palma	University of Cambridge, UK
James Petras	Binghamton University, New York, USA
Ranjan Ray	University of Tasmania, Hobart, Australia
Kartik Roy	University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia
Kunal Sengupta	University of Sydney, Australia
Rehman Sobhan	Centre for Policy Dialogue, Dhaka, Bangladesh
Osvaldo Sunkel	University of Chile, Santiago, Chile
Clem Tisdell	University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS FOR SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

The International Journal of Development Issues is a peer-reviewed journal. Authors are invited to submit manuscripts that follow the basic objective of the IJDI as outlined under Aims and Scope of the IJDI. A manuscript must contain original unpublished work and not being submitted for publication elsewhere.

Manuscripts (up to 8,000 words in length, including footnotes and references) must be in English, double-spaced and in triplicate. The first page of the manuscript should contain an abstract of no longer than 100 words and information on author's name, telephone number, postal and email addresses. Electronic mail submission is preferred and facsimile submission is not encouraged. It is expected that manuscripts accepted for publication will be submitted on computer disk (preferably on a 3.5 inch disk in MS-DOS format).

A decision on publication of manuscripts is expected to be made within a 3-4 months after its receipt by the Editor. There are no page charges for publication. Authors must have the understanding that once a manuscript is accepted for publication, the exclusive copyright in it shall go to the IJDI. The Editor neither accepts responsibility for damage or loss of manuscripts submitted, nor returns the submitted manuscripts to the authors.

All manuscripts should be directed to the following address:

The Editor
International Journal of Development Issues
School of Economics and Political Science
Merewether Building H04
The University of Sydney
NSW: 2006, Australia

Tel: +61 2 9351 3062
Fax: +61 2 9351 4341
Email: dilipd@econ.usyd.edu.au

IJDI is published bi-annually by the Centre for South Asian Studies (CSAS)
School of Economics and Political Science, University of Sydney, Australia.
© 2006 International Journal of Development Issues
Printed in Sydney, Australia.