In the Faculty of Dentistry we have been providing oral health education and training since 1901. Our courses are patient-centred, evidence-based, integrated with research and responsive to community needs. Our students will be the future leaders of the dental profession.

We foster innovative research endeavour by focusing on the two priority themes of Chronic Disease and Healthy Ageing.

A major impact of oral disease within diverse communities relates to the burden of chronic infections, particularly caries and periodontal disease. The causes, consequences and treatment needs for these diseases continue to drive our initiatives for research into prevention, early intervention and improved treatment outcomes.

We aim to deliver real world solutions to support the dental practitioner by developing and disseminating clinical guidelines based on solid research evidence. This will lead to better treatments and outcomes for patients and support healthy ageing.

Importantly, our research will help us to understand and treat, as well as prevent, not only the dental diseases but major disease conditions such as cardiac disease, diabetes and even cancer.

In order to provide the optimal environment for achieving excellence and innovation in our teaching and research endeavours we must maintain world-class teaching and research facilities providing access to state-of-the-art technology for our students.

To ensure this we need your help.
