

You are here:

TEACHING @ SYDNEY

March 2013

Enhance your skills in designing new assessments

Participate in a hands-on workshop on 'Assessment Planning' run by Alverno College and enhance your skills in designing new assessments. This two-day workshop is a collaboration between the Office for Learning and Teaching (OLT) funded Assessing and Assuring Graduate Learning Outcomes (AAGLO) project, and Alverno College (Milwaukee, USA).

Alverno College (Milwaukee, USA) is internationally acknowledged for leadership in ability-based curriculum development, performance assessment design, active roles for students through self-assessment and meaningful representation of achievement.

Date: 28 - 29 May 2013

Time: 9am - 5pm

Where: Darlington Centre, The University of Sydney

Cost: $85.00 per person

The AAGLO (Assessing and Assuring Graduate Learning Outcomes) Project has, with the support of the OLT, completed an extensive national investigation into assessment practices that provide credible evidence of graduate learning outcomes.

Find out more about AAGLO here. To register for the workshop click here.
