A Variety of International Opportunities Available

Undergraduate students in the Faculty of Education and Social Work have diverse international opportunities available to them in 2017.

This includes semester-long exchanges to universities around the world, a short-term exchange to Sweden, an international experience in Cambodia, and a professional placement in the Maldives.

It is important to plan ahead, since your course will determine when and for how long you can study abroad. Deadlines for 2017 experiences start in September, so make sure you don’t miss them.
