

The Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences at the University of Tübingen invites applications for the endowed position of Assistant/associate professor (W 1) of Empirical Educational Research (with a concentration on instruction in science and technology) endowed by the Gips-Schüle-Stiftung.

The position is initially limited to four years with the possibility of extension by a further two years. The position is due to commence on 01.04.2012 or later.

The chosen candidate is expected to carry out research on how interest and motivation in science and technology develops and how it can be enhanced in the classroom. Strong methodological skills and willingness to cooperate with the existing research program in empirical educational research are also expected. Further information about the Center for Educational Science and Psychology to which the position will be affiliated is available at the following link
