Applying AASW Practice Standards in Practice and Field Education

Wednesday 17 September 2008, 9.30am–1pm
Education Building, the University of Sydney, Camperdown

This workshop is designed to explore the AASW Practice Standards (2003) now incorporated into the AASW Social Work Education Policy (2008). This development of professional social work standards and their application in social work education has significant implications for all social work practitioners and field educators.

Workshop aims:
* Explore the context informing professional practice standards
* Understand the AASW Practice Standards framework and content
* Explore current applications in education and practice
* Develop processes for application in participant's own practice

Presenter: Ros Giles

For more information on this and other professional learning activities for the social work and policy community visit: www.proflearn.edsw.usyd.edu.au/social_workers