NASSCOM STUDENT INNOVATION AWARDS 2016
NSIA 2016 | ABOUT

- Initiated with the sole purpose of stimulating innovation
- Open to all students studying in Australian Universities
- NASSCOM Student Innovation Awards is currently in it’s 5th year.
- Presentation of the awards at the CeBIT gala dinner

AIM

“To promote innovation and nurture talent among young entrepreneurs of the future”
Any student enrolled at an Australian university can fill out the application form on the website until 19th April, 2016.

The applicants are shortlisted to suit the requirements of the submission.

The shortlisted submissions are required to present their idea to a panel of independent judges.

The judges unanimously decide on the best entries with the most potential. There is no limit on the number of winners.

The winners are felicitated at the CeBIT Gala Dinner.
NSIA 2016 | SELECTION CRITERIA

CATEGORIES

1. IT Innovation
2. IT Enabled Business Innovation

KEY JUDGING CRITERIA

1. Innovation
2. Performance
3. Potential
The winner is entitled to

✓ Felicitation at the CeBIT Gala Dinner

✓ 1 week internship in India with a member company (completely sponsored)

✓ Potential mentoring opportunities with member companies.
2015

• IT Enabled Business Innovation Category
  ‘An Innovative Approach to Self-Organizing Battery-Less Interference-Free Wearable Networks’
  By Samaneh Movassaghi, Australian National

• IT Technical Innovation Category
  ‘PrivMetrics’
  By Suranga Senevirante, University of New South Wales

2014

• IT Technical Innovation category
  BillLess Smart Household Electricity Demand Control System
  By Lu Xia, University of Melbourne

• IT Enabled Business Innovation category
  Improving Gas-to-Liquid Fuel Catalysis via Nano-scale Sensor Networks
  By Eisa Zarepour, University of New South Wales
NSIA 2014 & 2015