

January, 2012

Internship Title:
Web Developer

Articula is a career - education web 2.0 startup company serving intermediate-level English speaking University students, recent college grads and young professionals. The web application facilitates industry specific business English conversation and skill acquisition by pairing learners with trainers who are experienced, native English speaking business professionals in relevant career fields such as finance, technology, media, etc.

Description:

- * Analysis and design of new site features
- * Build and enhance existing features and functionality
- * Site analytics, monitoring and maintenance

Qualifications:

- * Solid programming and application design background
- * Academic and/or work related experience in web development preferred
- * Experience with the following technologies preferred: HTML, CSS, Ruby on Rails, Javascript, jQuery
- * Computer Science/Software Engineering Degree or relevant related course

To apply for this position, please email resume to walshmj@gmail.com.

January, 2012

Internship Title:
Web Designer

Articula is a career - education web 2.0 startup company serving intermediate-level English speaking University students, recent college grads and young professionals. The web application facilitates industry specific business English conversation and skill acquisition by pairing learners with trainers who are experienced, native English speaking business professionals in relevant career fields such as finance, technology, media, etc.

Description:

Work closely with the developers and business team to contribute to the design of the Articula website, including new features, layout, color scheme and page flow.

Qualifications:

- * Good graphic and web design skills
- * Understanding of HTML, CSS and Javascript
- * Design Computing/Multimedia/Graphic design based degrees
- * Will also consider students of other majors who have experience in web design and motivation to work for an innovative startup company

To apply for this position, please email resume to walshmj@gmail.com.