Undergraduate Scholarships at Sydney Uni

2004

The University of Sydney
A word from the Vice-Chancellor

I was the first in my family to have the opportunity to finish school, let alone attend university. That is one reason why I am passionate about top-quality education being available to those who deserve it, regardless of their financial means. So I am proud that the University of Sydney offers a wide range of scholarships. It is a feature of our program that the scholarships demand more than mere HSC success. We are looking for evidence of leadership, creativity, self-motivation, communication skills and participation in school and community activities.

The University is proud of its high academic standards and its many distinguished alumni, who have gone on to positions of leadership and influence as artists, writers, politicians, judges and scientists both in Australia and across the world.

I would like to encourage students from any background to apply for a scholarship. Without such students, the University of Sydney could not continue to be one of the world’s top universities.

Contents

Frequently asked questions 1
The three main types of scholarship 2
University of Sydney Scholarships 2
Access Scholarships 3
Scholarships for Outstanding Achievement in Secondary Studies 4
Faculty scholarships 5
Application form (centre of brochure) 7
Scholarships for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students 8
Sports scholarships 9
Bruton Educational Trust Scholarship 9
Scholarships for continuing students 9
Loans and bursaries 9
Full-fee scholarships 9

Why top students choose Sydney

At the University of Sydney we attract more of the top 10 per cent of school leavers than any other university in NSW. There are many reasons why top students choose Sydney:

- Wide range of degrees. The University offers you a wide range of degrees, and of subjects within degrees.
- Great job prospects. Our Careers Centre works closely with some of Australia’s largest and most prestigious employers to help place you in a job. Degrees at the University also give you skills for life, not just for the first job.
- Advanced and talented options. Many of our faculties offer advanced and talented options. Top students are given extra challenges, flexibility and access to research programs.
- Exchange programs. You can participate in an extensive exchange program, studying at quality universities in Europe, Asia, the US and Canada during your course.
- Leading reputation for research. In 2003, for the fourth consecutive year, the Australian Research Council awarded Sydney more funding for new research projects than any other university in Australia. Sydney was also the leading university in program and project grant funding awarded in 2003 by the National Health and Medical Research Council.
- Fantastic services. The largest university library in the southern hemisphere, three fully equipped gyms, an Olympic pool, numerous catering and computer facilities, and more. You can also choose from over 50 sporting groups and 150 clubs and societies.
- A great time. Uni is not all about study, and the University of Sydney offers many opportunities to make your time at Uni enjoyable and memorable.

Frequently asked questions

What scholarships are available?

There are many types of scholarship available at the University. On pages 2–4 you’ll see the three main types (particularly the ‘University of Sydney Scholarships’) but there are many others offered (pages 5–9), such as faculty scholarships and sports scholarships. In 2004, well over 350 new students enrolling in University of Sydney courses will be offered a scholarship.

How are scholarships awarded?

Most scholarships are awarded on a combination of school examination results, UAI and other factors (such as leadership, creativity, self-motivation and communication skills). They are not awarded on UAI alone, except for the ‘Outstanding Achievement’ scholarships. You will usually have your application for a particular scholarship assessed before the UAI’s are released, then your UAI will be checked to make sure it meets the minimum required level (see pages 2–4 for details).

What if I’m not a top student?

While most of the scholarships, except those specifically for achievement in secondary studies, are for top students (UAI of 95 and above), a number are awarded for other reasons. The Access Scholarships (pages 3), sports scholarships (pages 9) and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander scholarships (pages 8), for example, are assessed on a needs and merit basis.

What if I’m an international student?

The main types of University of Sydney scholarships are available to Australian citizens or permanent residents only. You should carefully read the information on international scholarships on page 7.

Can the scholarship be deferred?

Yes, you can apply for as many different types as you like. However, you can only receive one of the three main types of scholarship (pages 2–4). It may be possible also to receive other scholarships of lower value – for example, some faculty scholarships.

When is my application due?

For the main scholarships (pages 2–4) the closing date for applications is 26 September 2003. Please check application dates carefully for other scholarships (pages 5–9).

How do I know my application has been received?

For the main scholarships (pages 2–4) you will receive a letter in the post stating that your application has been received. This should arrive no more than one month after you send your application. If you have not been sent a confirmation letter by 24 October 2003, contact the Scholarships Unit.

When do I find out if I’ve got a scholarship?

If accepted, you should receive a letter of offer in late December 2003 or early January 2004. If you do not get a scholarship, you should receive a letter no later than mid-January 2004.

What if I don’t get a scholarship?

You should remember that there is very keen competition for scholarships, and selection is based not just on UAI but on many other factors as well (leadership, creativity etc). If you miss out now, don’t forget there are many other scholarships and prizes for ongoing students, based on performance during your degree (see page 9).

Where can I find more information?

Check out the scholarships website at www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships or phone toll free 1300 362 006.

Can I apply for more than one scholarship?

Yes, you can apply for as many different types as you like. However, you can only receive one of the three main types of scholarship (pages 2–4). It may be possible also to receive other scholarships of lower value – for example, some faculty scholarships.
The three main types of scholarship

You can apply for most of these scholarships using the application form in this brochure – the application due date is 26 September 2003. For other scholarships see pages 5–9.

University of Sydney Scholarships

For: students completing secondary studies in 2003 with minimum UAI of 95 (98 for Distinction) plus other achievements

How much: $3,000 to $8,000 per year, depending on level

How long: One to five years, depending on level

Application due: 26 September 2003

How to apply: Use application form in this brochure

Three levels

University of Sydney Scholarships are awarded at three levels (your application will automatically be considered for all three):

• ‘With Distinction’: minimum UAI of 98 (plus other achievements), worth $8,000 per year, available for maximum five years (must maintain excellent academic record)
• ‘With Merit’: minimum UAI of 95 (plus other achievements), worth $5,000 per year, available for maximum five years (must maintain excellent academic record)
• ‘One-off entry award’: minimum UAI of 95 (plus other achievements), worth $3,000, available for one year only

Note that students applying for scholarships who wish to study at the Sydney College of the Arts or the Sydney Conservatorium of Music must achieve a UAI of at least 90 and be among the top five per cent of applicants, assessed by portfolio or performance.

Special note: choose carefully

University of Sydney Scholarships are available for all undergraduate degrees and combined degrees at the University, but you must choose only one of these (e.g. Bachelor of Commerce or Bachelor Commerce/ Bachelor Law) when you apply. If you receive a scholarship it will be for the degree you nominated and will not usually be transferable to another degree, so choose carefully.

Students who completed their secondary studies in 2002

If you completed your secondary studies in 2002 with a minimum UAI of 98 and have not yet enrolled at university or TAFE, you may be eligible for a University of Sydney Scholarship with Distinction. The scholarships are worth $8,000 per year for up to five years (depending on your course). Applications are due on 26 September 2003, using the application form in this brochure.

Access Scholarships

For: students with academic ability who have been disadvantaged (financial, disability or rural/remote) and who are completing secondary studies in 2003

How much: $3,000 per year

How long: Maximum of either four or five years

Application due: 26 September 2003

How to apply: Use application form in this brochure

Access Scholarships give access to the University to students who have been disadvantaged in some way. They are available to students who have a competitive UAI and who also meet at least one of these criteria:

• financial disadvantage – you will need to have received maximum Youth Allowance or Abstudy benefits in Year 11 and Year 12
• disability – if you have a disability which has had, and is likely to continue to have, a significant impact on your ability to study
• rural/remote area – if you have lived in, and attended school in, a rural/remote area for the last two years

Please note that students from ‘priority’ schools will receive special consideration.

Two types

There are two types of Access Scholarship: the University of Sydney Access Scholarships and the Group of Eight (Go8) Access Scholarships. If you fill out the relevant section in the application form included in this brochure you will automatically be considered for both of these.

For the University of Sydney Access Scholarships you will need a very good UAI and be able to satisfy at least one of the criteria (financial disadvantage, disability or rural/remote area). The scholarships are each worth $3,000 per year for up to five years, as long as you show good progress in your studies.

For the Group of Eight (Go8) Access Scholarships you will also need a competitive UAI but the focus is only on students who have been financially disadvantaged. The scholarships are each worth $3,000 per year for up to four years, as long as you perform well in your studies. The Go8 Scholarships are offered as part of a joint arrangement between the eight leading research universities in Australia, and if you get one of these scholarships you can transfer to any of the other seven universities after successfully completing your first year of study. You can study at the Universities of Adelaide, Melbourne, Monash, New South Wales, Queensland, Sydney and Western Australia and at the Australian National University.
Faculty scholarships

In addition to participating in the University-wide scholarship program (see pages 2–4), many faculties also provide their own scholarships for first-year students. Faculties also have many scholarships and prizes available to students in their later years of study—please contact the faculty in which you are enrolled for further information.

Scholarships for Outstanding Achievement
For: students with UAI of 100 or 99.95

How much: $5,000 per year
How long: Maximum 5 years
How to apply: You do not need to apply—the University will contact you after the UAI results are released. Students meeting the criteria will be automatically enrolled in the scholarship program.

Unlike the other scholarships shown here, these scholarships are awarded after the UAI results are released, and on the basis of UAI only. There is no need to apply for the scholarship as the University will contact you by mail if you get a UAI of 100 or 99.95 and if you have registered a preference for the University of Sydney through UAC. If you are offered this scholarship and take it up, you cannot concurrently hold another scholarship of equal or greater value at the University.

Scholarships for Outstanding Achievement
For: students with UAI of 100 or 99.95

How much: $5,000 per year
How long: Maximum 5 years
How to apply: You do not need to apply—the University will contact you after the UAI results are released. Students meeting the criteria will be automatically enrolled in the scholarship program.

Unlike the other scholarships shown here, these scholarships are awarded after the UAI results are released, and on the basis of UAI only. There is no need to apply for the scholarship as the University will contact you by mail if you get a UAI of 100 or 99.95 and if you have registered a preference for the University of Sydney through UAC. If you are offered this scholarship and take it up, you cannot concurrently hold another scholarship of equal or greater value at the University.

Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
If you are interested in studying in the Faculty of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources, you can apply for a scholarship valued at $6,900 per year for four years. Scholarships are available in the Bachelor of Science in Agriculture, Bachelor of Agricultural Economics, Bachelor of Horticultural Science, Bachelor of Resource Economics, Bachelor of Land and Water Science, and Bachelor of Animal Science. To be eligible you need a minimum UAI of 94 and will be asked to attend an interview. A small number of entry scholarships valued at $3,000 for one year only will be awarded to applicants who just miss out on full Faculty scholarships. If you apply for the University of Sydney Scholarships and nominate the Faculty of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources, your application will also be considered for a Faculty scholarship. Applications close 30 September and forms are available from your careers adviser or by contacting the Faculty.

Phone: 02 9351 2936 or 9351 6926
E-mail: ug@agric.usyd.edu.au

Architecture
The Faculty of Architecture offers a range of entry scholarships, including the Dean’s Outstanding Merit Scholarship ($1,000 per annum for up to five years), awarded to the top HSC entering student with a minimum UAI of 98 (no application required). For students of the BDes (Arch)/BArch (five years) or BDes Comp (three years) plus Honours year, the Dean’s Merit Scholarships are a one-off $1,000 payment to outstanding HSC entering students with a minimum UAI of 95 (no application required).

Phone: 9351 3248
E-mail: ssc@arch.usyd.edu.au

Arts
The Faculty of Arts has seven scholarships, ranging in value from $200 to $1,500, available to students commencing first year. Most scholarships are awarded on merit, either in overall HSC performance, or in specific HSC subjects (French, German, Latin, Modern Greek), with the condition that the scholar continues study of that language in their first year. Others require enrolment in a particular subject, are based on need or require a separate examination—the Cooper Scholarship II, for example, is awarded for proficiency in Classics, with applicants required to sit an additional paper shortly after the HSC. An application form is available from the Scholarship Unit.

Phone: (02) 9351 2717
E-mail: scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au

Economics and Business
In 2004 the Faculty of Economics and Business will be significantly expanding its commitment to student scholarships. The Faculty is keen to give every opportunity to prospective students to maximise their academic potential. As part of this initiative, in 2004 the Faculty will be offering a total of 45 new undergraduate scholarships based on academic merit and additional needs-based criteria. For those awarded on academic merit, ten will be valued at $10,000 per year, and 30 will be valued at $5,000 per year. The remaining 5 new scholarships will be awarded on equity grounds and valued at $5,000. All scholarships will extend for the duration of the period of study within the Faculty, including an honours year where appropriate. For more detailed information please contact the Faculty directly.

Phone: (02) 9351 3076
E-mail: student@econ.usyd.edu.au

Engineering
The Faculty of Engineering offers a wide variety of scholarship options, some of which have industrial support. Some scholarships begin in first year and continue for the duration of your degree, while others are one-off payments awarded when you enrol. Some are linked with industrial experience and others with advanced study options. There are also others that are specific to a particular department or degree course, and many more are awarded as you progress through your degree. The scholarships range in value from $1,000 per annum to $14,000 per annum. Applications for most scholarships close on 30 September. For more information, including application procedures and selection criteria, check our website, ask your careers adviser or contact the Faculty.

Phone: (02) 9351 2131
Website: www.eng.usyd.edu.au

Natasha Simonsen
Natasha, who is studying Economics and Social Sciences/Law, was awarded a scholarship for outstanding achievement.

“Like any HSC student, my chief focus in Year 12 was just getting through! Uni is much more relaxed, and the atmosphere at Sydney is great because it’s about learning for the sake of knowledge, not just to pass your exams.

“I’ve met so many interesting people, and it’s really encouraged me to think about different perspectives and to consider different options for the future.

“I’m hoping to do an exchange program in Geneva the year after next where I’d like to undertake an intensive course in international law. It’s just one of the many opportunities that have been presented by my studies at Sydney!”
Rural Management
The Faculty of Rural Management on the Orange Campus offers a number of scholarships. Some are based on academic merit while others require additional selection criteria or are needs-based. Applications for 2004 will close at the Faculty on Monday 22 March 2004. There are currently two commencing scholarships: The VP Bragg Memorial scholarship at $1,200 per annum, and the FC Pye Rural Australia scholarship at $2,500 per annum. A number of other organisations offer scholarships tenable at the Faculty, however these are not administered by the Faculty. For more information please refer to www.orange.usyd.edu.au/info/scholar_info.htm or contact the Faculty.
Phone: (02) 9351 3021
E-mail: fasicl@scf.ac.usyd.edu.au

Science
The Faculty of Science offers more than 60 entry scholarships with a total value of up to $100,000, including the Panand Scholarships, Science Entry Scholarships and a range of scholarships in specific academic disciplines and degrees. Science scholarships range in value from $500 to $2,500 and a number are tenable for two years or more. The scholarships are awarded without application on the basis of performance in the HSC. Applicants for the University of Sydney Scholarships will automatically be considered for the Faculty awards. Selection could be based on either HSC, marks in individual subjects (e.g. Biology) or the degree for which a student enrols (e.g. the first-year students in the Bachelor of Psychology). For more information contact the Faculty.
Phone: (02) 9351 1216
E-mail: info@science.usyd.edu.au

Veterinary Science
The Faculty of Veterinary Science offers three scholarships to first-year students enrolled in the Bachelor of Veterinary Science degree. The John Gurner and Frederick Elsworth Scholarships are valued at $350 each and are one-off prizes awarded for proficiency in first-year Chemistry, Cell Biology 1A and Cell Biology 1B. It is not necessary to apply as university examination results for these three subjects are automatically considered for the scholarships.
For more information contact the Faculty Office.
Phone: (02) 9351 2441
E-mail: vetsci@vetsci.usyd.edu.au

Sydney College of the Arts
Sydney College of the Arts awards a number of scholarships on the basis of merit and need. Scholarships include the Zelda Stedman Scholarship (valued at $5,000), the Fauvelet Louisa Memorial Scholarship (valued at $4,000), and others ranging in value from $400 to $1,000. Applications close on 4 August 2003. For more information contact Sydney College of the Arts Student Administration Office.
Phone: (02) 9351 1104
E-mail: enquirers@sca.usyd.edu.au

Scholarships for international students
The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The University of Sydney offers a number of scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The Australian government offers a number of scholarships for international students. These scholarships are administered by the Commonwealth Scholarships Office. For more information please refer to the Australian government website at www.cfo.gov.au.

The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The Australian government offers a number of scholarships for international students. These scholarships are administered by the Commonwealth Scholarships Office. For more information please refer to the Australian government website at www.cfo.gov.au.

Rebecca Davie
Rebecca is a first-year Science/Law student and was awarded a scholarship by the Faculty of Science. “I chose to leave home on the Gold Coast to take up study opportunities in Australia’s most vibrant international city,” she said. “My studies are challenging and stimulating. I aspire to work in international environmental law, perhaps eventually to sit on the High Court!”

Sydney Conservatorium of Music
The Sydney Conservatorium of Music awards a range of scholarships to new students. Scholarships awarded on the basis of merit are assessed on audition and interview results. When you undertake an audition and/or interview for admission to the Conservatorium you will automatically be considered for a merit scholarship. The Conservatorium also awards scholarships on the basis of financial need or disadvantage. If you would like to be considered for one of these scholarships you should submit a separate application form which is available from the Conservatorium at the beginning of October.
The applications for financial assistance can be submitted from 1 November and the final closing date is 19 December 2003.
Phone: (02) 9351 1216
E-mail: info@greenway.usyd.edu.au

Exchange and travel scholarships
The University of Sydney has an extensive range of exchange opportunities with exchange partners in the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Scandinavia, Western Europe and Asia.
As a full-time student at the undergraduate or postgraduate level, you can complete a semester or a year of your course overseas and have the results credited towards your Sydney enrollment. The University offers different forms of financial support, some of which are based on academic merit while others are needs-based, for students selected to participate in approved exchange programs. General eligibility and selection criteria apply.
For more information, including a full list of overseas exchange partners, contact International Exchange Programs at the International Office or view our website.
Phone: (02) 9351 3699
E-mail: exchanges@io.usyd.edu.au
Website: www.usyd.edu.au/exchange

Pip Walter
Pip is an Advanced Science student who spent a semester at Cornell University with the help of a University of Sydney International Exchange Scholarship. “I never realised how many more opportunities there were out there until I actually went and saw for myself. I am now considering living and working overseas, and I would never have considered that before.”

The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The University of Sydney is an international university. International students, who come from more than 80 countries across the world to study at Sydney, contribute to campus life and culture. To encourage international students to study at the University we offer the following scholarships:

Faculty/International Merit Scholarships
In 2003 the University of Sydney awarded 68 International Merit Scholarships to international students who were enrolled in a degree at the University of Sydney. International Merit Scholarships cover all or part of your tuition fees for one year. The faculties participating in the program select students on academic merit. The scholarships are available to all international students who do not already hold another scholarship. No application is required.

Foundation Program Scholarships
The University of Sydney Foundation Program Scholarship is awarded to either one or two graduates of each Foundation Program intake on the basis of academic achievement, application and need. The scholarship covers all (if awarded to one student) or half (if awarded to two students) of the tuition fees for the first year of study at the University. No application is required.

Other international scholarships

The Australian government offers a number of scholarships for international students. These scholarships are administered by the Commonwealth Scholarships Office. For more information please refer to the Australian government website at www.cfo.gov.au.

The scholarship helped me pay for my airfare, accommodation, textbooks and other expenses.”
ANZ Indigenous Scholarship

Sponsored by ANZ, the scholarship offers an annual allowance and payment of HECS expenses for up to four years. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of academic merit (based on academic record) and offers to students of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander background who are enrolled in full-time study at the University of Sydney. The scholarship is worth $10,000 per year for three years. ANZ will also offer the successful scholar, if they are interested, access to an appropriate mentor and professional development opportunities within the organisation as they arise.

Selection will be by interview and based on academic achievements and sporting, cultural, community activities and work experience.
For more information and an application form please contact the Scholarships Unit on (02) 9351 2717, e-mail scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au. Information about the scholarship and an electronic application form may also be downloaded from: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

For more information on the range of scholarships available contact the Koori Centre.
Phone: (02) 9351 2046 Toll free: 1800 622 742
Yooroang Garang Phone: (02) 9351 5993 Toll free: 1800 000 418

Sports scholarships

The University of Sydney has some of the best sporting facilities in Australia. S.U. Sport has catered for sports on the campus for both men and women for over a century, and boasts more than 200 Australian sporting representatives in its illustrious history. By entering the University of Sydney, students become part of Australia’s oldest and richest academic and sporting tradition. In order to continue this tradition, the University has entered into formal agreements with the New South Wales Institute of Sport and the Sydney Swans to attract, encourage and assist elite athletes in their academic pursuits at the University.

The University of Sydney, through the S.U. Sport, offers a number of sports scholarships. In 2003 more than 210 students across 35 sports received scholarships worth between $1,000 and $4,000. In addition to this financial assistance, athletes receive access to fitness facilities, specialist exercise and nutrition programs, academic counselling, seminars and tutorials and international travel grants. Several categories of scholarship are offered including:

- All Rounder Scholarships in conjunction with Residential Colleges and the SU Village
- Vice Chancellor and Senate Scholarships for outstanding academic and sporting achievement
- Individual scholarships specific to the sport athletics (Dr Philip Rundle scholarship), rowing (Marie Gavel Memorial Scholarship) and the Faculty of Pharmacy sports scholarship
- Orange campus Sport Scholarships.

Recipients are expected to represent their University sports club, to participate in the University Games and to maintain a successful academic record.
Applications close on Friday 23 January 2004. For application forms and further information regarding these scholarships, please refer to the S.U. Sport website, www.susport.com and follow the links to scholarships where brochures and an application form can be downloaded or you can contact S.U. Sport direct.
Phone (02) 9351 4960 E-mail admin@susport.usyd.edu.au

For more information and an application form please contact the Scholarships Unit on (02) 9351 2717, e-mail scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au. Information about the Scholarship and an electronic application form may also be downloaded from: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

Kirsten Thomson

After winning a Silver Medal at the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games 4 x 200m relay, at the age of only 16, Kirsten took 2001 off to concentrate on her HSC. After a lot of hard work she recently won a silver medal in the 200m freestyle at the National Championships and fifth in the same event in the Duel in the Pool meet in America.
Recently named 2002 Australian University Sport Female Athlete of the Year, Kirsten has set her sights on the World Championships in Barcelona in July this year.

University of Sydney full-fee scholarships

In 2003 twenty scholarships were awarded on the basis of academic performance and criteria relating to equity, to new and continuing Australian undergraduate fee-paying students. These scholarships are worth $4,000 each. This is offset against July semester course fees and cannot be taken as cash.
Each scholarship is awarded for one year only but students may re-apply each year. Applications normally close at the end of March. Further information can be obtained from the Scholarships Unit, phone: (02) 9351 2717, e-mail: scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au.

Bruton Educational Trust Scholarship 2004

The Bruton Educational Trust is offering a scholarship to undergraduate students commencing university study in 2004. The scholarship is intended to support a candidate to relocate from regional NSW to attend the University of Sydney, who would otherwise be unable to do so due to financial need.

The scholarship is worth $10,000 per year for three years. Applications close 26 September 2003. For more information and an application form please contact the Scholarships Unit on (02) 9351 2717, e-mail: scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au. Information about the Scholarship and an electronic application form may also be downloaded from: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

When you start studying at the University of Sydney, you will find a large range of scholarships and prizes awarded on the basis of your performance in your university studies. Some of these are faculty or department specific and others are University-wide. They range in value up to $7,000. For more information you should check with the faculty you are enrolled in and look at the Scholarships website.
Website: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

Loans and bursaries

A range of loans and bursaries relating to any undergraduate program is available through the Financial Assistance Office. Bursaries are usually tenable for one year and are based on financial need and academic merit. Closing dates vary. Contact the Financial Assistance Office.
Phone: (02) 9351 2416, E-mail: fao@stuserv.usyd.edu.au Website: www.usyd.edu.au/fin_assist

College scholarships and bursaries for indigenous Australian students

The three academic colleges at the University of Sydney – Sciences and Technology, Humanities and Social Sciences, and Health Sciences – offer up to 36 scholarships worth $5,000 each to full-time students. The College of Health Sciences also offers up to 32 bursaries of $1,250 each. Students in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences must have successfully completed one year of full-time study at the University of Sydney to be eligible. Some are awarded on academic merit (based on academic record) and others on need and merit.

Other scholarships

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship, for students enrolled in full-time degree or diploma courses, may cover costs such as fees, books, study equipment and living expenses. The amount awarded varies according to the need of the recipient. Other smaller bursaries and scholarships are also available through the Financial Assistance Office. For more information contact the Office on (02) 9351 5667.

The Faculty of Law offers the Victoria Gollan scholarship, valued at $1,500, to assist an Aboriginal student in the study of Law. For more information contact the Undergraduate Scholarships Office, Faculty of Law, on (02) 9351 0224.

The University of Sydney, through the S.U Sport, offers a number of sports scholarships. In 2003 more than 210 students across 35 sports received scholarships worth between $1,000 and $4,000. In addition to this financial assistance, athletes receive access to fitness facilities, specialist exercise and nutrition programs, academic counselling, seminars and tutorials and international travel grants. Several categories of scholarship are offered including:

- All Rounder Scholarships in conjunction with Residential Colleges and the SU Village
- Vice Chancellor and Senate Scholarships for outstanding academic and sporting achievement
- Individual scholarships specific to the sport athletics (Dr Philip Rundle scholarship), rowing (Marie Gavel Memorial Scholarship) and the Faculty of Pharmacy sports scholarship
- Orange campus Sport Scholarships.

Recipients are expected to represent their University sports club, to take part in the University Games and to maintain a successful academic record.
Applications close on Friday 23 January 2004. For application forms and further information regarding these scholarships, please refer to the S.U. Sport website, www.susport.com and follow the links to scholarships where brochures and an application form can be downloaded or you can contact S.U. Sport direct.
Phone (02) 9351 4960 E-mail admin@susport.usyd.edu.au

For more information and an application form please contact the Scholarships Unit on (02) 9351 2717, e-mail scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au. Information about the Scholarship and an electronic application form may also be downloaded from: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

When you start studying at the University of Sydney, you will find a large range of scholarships and prizes awarded on the basis of your performance in your university studies. Some of these are faculty or department specific and others are University-wide. They range in value up to $7,000. For more information you should check with the faculty you are enrolled in and look at the Scholarships website.
Website: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

Loans and bursaries

A range of loans and bursaries relating to any undergraduate program is available through the Financial Assistance Office. Bursaries are usually tenable for one year and are based on financial need and academic merit. Closing dates vary. Contact the Financial Assistance Office.
Phone: (02) 9351 2416, E-mail: fao@stuserv.usyd.edu.au Website: www.usyd.edu.au/fin_assist

College scholarships and bursaries for indigenous Australian students

The three academic colleges at the University of Sydney – Sciences and Technology, Humanities and Social Sciences, and Health Sciences – offer up to 36 scholarships worth $5,000 each to full-time students. The College of Health Sciences also offers up to 32 bursaries of $1,250 each. Students in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences must have successfully completed one year of full-time study at the University of Sydney to be eligible. Some are awarded on academic merit (based on academic record) and others on need and merit.

Other scholarships

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship, for students enrolled in full-time degree or diploma courses, may cover costs such as fees, books, study equipment and living expenses. The amount awarded varies according to the need of the recipient. Other smaller bursaries and scholarships are also available through the Financial Assistance Office. For more information contact the Office on (02) 9351 5667.

The Faculty of Law offers the Victoria Gollan scholarship, valued at $1,500, to assist an Aboriginal student in the study of Law. For more information contact the Undergraduate Scholarships Office, Faculty of Law, on (02) 9351 0224.
Undergraduate Scholarships at Sydney Uni

2004

The University of Sydney
Scholarships Unit
Phone: Toll free 1300 362 006
or +61 2 9351 2717
Fax: +61 2 9351 5134
E-mail: scholarships@careers.usyd.edu.au
Website: www.usyd.edu.au/scholarships

This booklet is a guide to the scholarships offered by the University of Sydney. However, the information set out in it is an expression of intent only and should not be taken as a firm offer or undertaking. The University reserves the right to make alterations to any information contained within this publication without notice.