THE INTERNATIONAL LEADERS PROGRAM
THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

The University of Sydney is Australia’s oldest university, with an international reputation for the quality of its research and teaching.

The University is close to the centre of Sydney, one of the world’s most spectacular cities. Its main campus includes an elegant sandstone Quadrangle dating from the 1850s as well as state-of-the-art teaching and research facilities. Our students and researchers come from all over the world and from all backgrounds. Notable alumni include prime ministers, Nobel laureates, business leaders, medical pioneers, artists, intellectuals and activists. The University’s aim is to create and sustain an environment that will, for the benefit of Australia and the wider world, maximise the potential of its brightest researchers and most promising students, whatever their social or cultural background.

THE INTERNATIONAL LEADERS PROGRAM

The University’s International Leaders Program is designed to help the next generation of leaders achieve their potential. It delivers a highly-focused range of leadership, exchange and public diplomacy programs. Courses take place in an open, creative and constructive environment, drawing on the expertise and insights of both presenters and participants. In recent years the International Leaders Program has hosted thousands of emerging and established leaders from around the world. In 2012, more than 400 participants took part in 18 International Leaders programs.

WHAT WE PROVIDE

- a customised leadership development experience for established and emerging leaders from around the world.
- leadership training courses and intensives that bring together theory and practice.
- fellowships and sector-specific shadowing experiences that enable global leaders and experts to exchange knowledge and experience.
