International Exchange Program

Partner Universities available for March semester 2010 Exchanges

International Exchange

The University of Sydney currently has over 230 formal student exchange agreements with universities all over the world. A full list of these universities is available on our website at www.usyd.edu.au/studentexchange

While these agreements may be current, exchange places may not be available at all destinations every semester. The availability of places may depend on deadlines specified by the partner university. Some universities only have one deadline per year and thus are only open for applications once a year.

Places may also depend on the balance of students exchanged in past semesters and whether places are available for future students. Where the University of Sydney has sent more students to a partner university than we have received, we may temporarily suspend exchanges to this partner university until the imbalance has been rectified. There is no guarantee that an agreement that has been suspended in one semester will re-open the next semester.

This brochure shows destinations that should be available for exchange in March semester 2010. (Application collection deadline: 15 May 2009). If you are planning for a future exchange, you should collect the updated Partner University list for that future semester. You should also review the special information sheets recommending the most suitable and successful destinations for certain areas of study, such as Architecture, Economics and Business, Languages, Law and Music. (Also see "Forms & Downloads" at www.usyd.edu.au/studentexchange)

Key to Table:

Agreement Scope: 'University-Wide' means that a wide range of courses are covered as part of the exchange agreement, but some disciplines may still be closed or restricted on advice from the partner university. Where a specific academic discipline is mentioned, eg: Law, this agreement is restricted to this discipline only.

Level of Study: UG/PG indicates whether the agreement is open to undergraduate and/or postgraduate students.

Applicable Conditions:

- 'Very competitive' implies this destination normally receives a large number of applications and not all applicants may be placed.
- 'Extremely competitive' implies this destination receives a large number of applications and only 1 or 2 may be placed.
- NOTE: Additional conditions may apply as partner universities update their entry requirements from time to time. You should consult an Exchange Adviser who can inform you if any new or unique conditions apply to your circumstances and/or your particular academic program.

Current International Office Exchange deadlines

- 15 May is the last day to collect the application kit for exchanges during the first (March) semester of the following year (i.e. study commencing January to May), and
- 15 October is the last day to collect the application kit for exchanges during the second (July) semester of the following year (i.e. study commencing July to November).

DISCLAIMER: The University of Sydney endeavours to provide accurate program information at all times. We reserve the right to temporarily suspend or not renew agreements without prior notice. In the event of this, the International Office will assist in the placement of applicants at other suitable destinations. New destinations may also be added from time to time. You are advised to double check destination availability, destination conditions and other eligibility and selection criteria with the International Office before proceeding with your application.
