About The Conference

On the 16-17th February 2007, the Australian Centre for Environmental Law Sydney, Faculty of Law, University of Sydney and the Environmental Defender's Office will be co-hosting a highly innovative conference entitled 'Beyond Environmental Law'.

Experts, across a broad range of legal disciplines, will be reflecting on how their areas of law impact on the environment. For this reason, the conference encourages academics and lawyers in private practice, government agencies and non-government organisations to consider the unique intersections between environmental law and other areas of law. Discovering these intersections should also be interesting and relevant to people working in areas other than law.

Attendance at this Conference will qualify participants for MCLE/CPD units if this particular educational activity is relevant to their immediate or long term needs in relation to their professional development and practice of the law. [MCLE/CPD units accumulate at the rate of 1 unit for each 1 hour of conference participation (excluding meal breaks)]
