Mr John Studdy AM FCA (BEC ’52)

John Studdy receives the Alumni Award for Community Achievement for his three decades of dedicated service to community organisations, in particular the Multiple Sclerosis (MS) Society, as well as his achievements as a leading Australian company director.

John is a former Senior Partner of Coopers & Lybrand (now PricewaterhouseCoopers) and took on his first non-executive company directorship back in 1972. Over the following years, he expanded his responsibilities on corporate boards, making his mark across a broad spectrum of industries. He has held high-profile chairmanships at Goodman Fielder, Mercantile Mutual Ltd (now ING), the French bank subsidiary Paribas Australia Ltd and The Ten Group, where he piloted the boardroom from 1993 to 2002. He has also served as chairman or director of more than 30 other companies, including the Westfield Group, and today continues to sit on the board of Ten.

In tandem with his business career, John has made a significant and lasting impact on the community through his service to a diverse range of charitable and non-profit organisations. He was appointed President of Multiple Sclerosis Australia back in 1979, holding the position up until 1997. John kick-started a long period of expansion for the society and played a pivotal role in raising public awareness about the condition of multiple sclerosis. His contributions have been honoured by the society with the titles of Emeritus President and Life Governor and by the naming of a multiple sclerosis facility at Lidcombe as the Studdy Centre. Until recently John also chaired both the Pain Management Research Institute, affiliated with Sydney University, and the ING Foundation, which supports a range of charitable groups such as Barnardos. He also contributes to the community at a local level and is a former president of Palm Beach Surf Club. In recognition of his impact on community health and business in Australia, John was recognised with an AM in 1988 and the Centenary Medal in 2003.
International Achievement

Mr Michael Hintze (BSc ’75 BE ’77)

Michael Hintze receives the Alumni Award for International Achievement for his professional accomplishments in the field of international finance and his exceptional contributions to philanthropic causes in the UK, Europe and Australia.

Based in London, Michael is the founder, CEO and Senior Investment Officer of CQS, a diversified global asset management group with a focus on convertibles and credit portfolios. Established by Michael in 1999, CQS now manages highly successful hedge funds, loan products and long only funds. His distinguished career in the finance sector – which followed stints as an electrical design engineer and Captain in the Australian Army – began at New York’s Salomon Brothers.

In 1984, Michael joined Goldman Sachs where he established the firm’s Euro Convertible and European Warrants business in London. During this time, he also acted as a consultant on the London Stock Exchange’s Markets Development Committee to report on the new market structure and served as Chairman of the Euro Convertible and European Warrants Committee of the International Securities Market Association. Other responsibilities included representing Goldman Sachs in financial sector forums such as London Stock Exchange committees and Securities and Investments Board reviews. After 12 years with Goldman, Michael joined investment bank CSFB, initially as Managing Director and European Head of Convertibles and subsequently as Managing Director in the Leveraged Funds Group where he developed the strategy and management team for the CSFB Convertible & Quantitative Strategies Fund; which later became CQS Convertible & Quantitative Strategies Fund.

Michael also has a passion for enriching society through large-scale philanthropic gifts donated through his family’s charitable foundation. His generosity has enabled the restoration of frescoes by Michelangelo in the Vatican and provided vital support to diverse community projects and UK cultural institutions such as the Victoria and Albert Museum, The National Gallery, the Old Vic Theatre and The Trinity Hospice. In 2006, Michael contributed significant funds to establish the Centre for International Security Studies and Michael Hintze Chair in International Security at Sydney University. In 2008, he was honoured as Australian of the Year in the UK.

He holds a BSc in Physics and Pure Mathematics and a BEng in Electrical Engineering both from the University of Sydney, and is a former undergraduate resident of St John’s College and tutor at Sancta Sophia College.

In addition to his University of Sydney degrees, Michael also holds an MSc in Acoustics from the University of New South Wales and an MBA from Harvard Business School.
Young Alumni Achievement

Ms Anna Rose (LLB ’08)

Anna Rose is the recipient of the Alumni Award for Young Alumni Achievement for her commitment to tackling the urgent issue of climate change in Australia and around the world. She holds a degree in Arts (Asian Studies)/Law (Hons I) from the University of Sydney and is a former resident of Wesley College.

Anna is the founder and Co-Director of the Australian Youth Climate Coalition, a partnership of Australia’s biggest 25 youth organisations united to build a generation wide movement to solve climate change. Anna was National Environment Officer for the Australian National Union of Students in 2005 and is past National Convenor of the Australian Student Environment Network. She is a former editor of Honi Soit and a regular speaker and opinion writer on climate and energy issues in Australia and the United States. Anna is a chapter author of the book The Future by Us and a regular blogger on Crikey. In 2005 Anna was a youth representative to the United Nations Kyoto Protocol negotiations in Montreal and in 2007 was a youth delegate to the UN Secretary General’s Meeting on Climate Change in New York. This December she will lead a delegation of 25 young Australians to the Copenhagen negotiations. After completing part of her University of Sydney law degree at Cornell Law School, Anna spent seven months working with the progressive movement in the United States, including the Obama campaign in the New Hampshire Primary. Anna is a member of the Environment Minister’s Advisory Council on Environmental Education. She is a Fellow of the International Youth Foundation, sits on the board of the Foundation for Young Australians’ ‘Young Social Pioneers’ Program, and holds an Australian Leadership Award from Australian-Davos connection. Anna is the 2009 Environment Minister’s ‘Young Environmentalist of the Year’ along with her co-directors Amanda McKenzie and Ellen Sandell.

Convocation Medal

The Alumni Council, the University’s peak alumni body, awards the Convocation medal to an outstanding recent graduate who has contributed exceptionally to the life of the University and achieved excellent academic results.

The Convocation Medallist is to be announced this evening.

Convocation Medal Nominees

James Austin BScAgr ’09
James has combined a passionate involvement in university life with excellence in his academic studies. As President of the Sydney University Agriculture Society, he delivered an array of social and career activities, helping to earn the society a Best Student Club award. He has been equally energetic in representing the Faculty of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources at promotional events and was also a keen member of the Rugby Club as a player and a coach. James gained First Class Honours and was recognised with the Dean’s Award for Best Oral Presentation at the Stepping Out with Fresh Ideas conference. He is a former resident of St Paul’s College.

Robert Clark BA ’07 LLB ’09
Robert has been a keen participant in the University’s cultural sphere. He has twice been a finalist at the Australian Intervarsity Debating Championships and was a finalist at the Australasian Championships. He has also adjudicated at the World Universities Debating Championship and supported the Union Debates Committee as both member and mentor. His other accomplishments range from winning the Kirby Cup Plain Speaking Competition to serving as Director and Assistant Director of the Law Revue and editing Honi Soit. Robert’s academic accolades include the Minter Ellison Prize for Intellectual Property. He is a former resident of St Paul’s College.

Jack Clegg BLibStud ’04 PhD ’08 LLB ’09
Jack worked energetically to enrich University life during his two terms as postgraduate Fellow of the Senate, where he sat on committees overseeing areas such as finance and appeals. He served a successful term as President of SUPRA and took on the responsibility of acting President for the SRC in the President’s absence. Meanwhile, he has been an editor of publications such as the Survival Guide and has played double bass with the University Symphony Orchestra since 2000. He served on the board of the Australian Youth Orchestra from 2002-2007 and has been a director of the Australian Country Credit Union since 2002. His academic record encompasses two First Class Honours degrees, a University Medal, a PhD and numerous prizes.
Thomas Clement BE ’09
Thomas has contributed his time and energy across the spectrum of campus life. He is the founder and President of the Rubik’s Cube Society and the Lego Society, which each boast over 150 members. He has also been closely involved in the Engineering Undergraduates Association, the Sydney Arts Students Society and SciSoc, taking on diverse executive responsibilities. Other achievements include mentoring first year students and organising the First Year Science Camp, contributing puzzles and articles to Honi Soit and reaching the grand finals of TheatreSports. His numerous academic honours include the University Medal in Mechatronics (Space) Engineering.

Christopher Croke BA ’09
Christopher has been a high achiever both inside and outside the classroom. He received the University Medal in History, among a number of other scholarships and prizes. Moreover, he has played a prominent role on campus as an editor of Honi Soit and a representative on the SRC, where he served as Honorary Secretary as it underwent the challenging process of adapting to VSU. Christopher is also a talented debater, having won the Australian Intervarsity Debating Championships and been a runner-up in the 2008 World Universities Debating Championship, as well as a tireless debating mentor.

Thomas Cusbert BSc (Advanced) ’09 BCom ’09
Thomas has had a stellar academic career, graduating with the University Medal in Economics and winning prizes and scholarships in both Economics and Psychology. He also represented the University at the prestigious 2008 APRU summer school in Shanghai as well as the UNSW National Honours Colloquium. In addition, Thomas has been an active contributor to campus life: he co-founded the Economics Society, has campaigned with the Enviro Collective and participated in the School Tutoring Program and Australian Indigenous Mentoring Experience. He also attained success as a sportsperson in American football, indoor football and table tennis.

Andrew Daly BDesArch ’09
Andrew has an excellent record of academic achievement in architecture. He received the University Medal in 2008, was awarded both the JW & BK Elkins Honours Scholarship and a University of Sydney Honours Scholarship, and has appeared twice on the Dean’s List. He also took part in the Visiting Students Program of the Architectural Association School of Architecture in London. Andrew also serves as an elected representative on the Sydney University Designers Association and has been an enthusiastic participant in the Architecture Revue from 2006 through to 2008. He has recently been awarded the Faculty of Architecture, Design and Planning’s ‘Alumni Graduand Award for Contribution to the Diverse Life of the University’.

Arash Falasiri BA ’09
Arash has made an outstanding contribution to the University of Sydney community as a scholar and through his participation in the wider culture of the campus. He has attained strong academic results in his Arts degree in subjects ranging from critical theory and feminist philosophy to Habermas. Arash has also gained a reputation for his ability to communicate complex philosophical concepts to his fellow students in an innovative way. He is currently engaged in research towards a dissertation in Habermas, supervised by Associate Professor John Grumley in the Department of Philosophy.
Julia Fetherston BEcSocSc ’09
A winner of the Chancellor's Award for Debater of the Year, Julia has represented the Union at nine intervarsity debating championships. She was ranked fifth best speaker at the recent World Universities Debating Championship in Cork and was runner-up in the Grand Final. She also gives back to debating as a dedicated member of the Debates Committee and has been active on other Union committees including the Activities and Programs Committee. Another passion for Julia has been improving women’s rights on campus. She gained First Class Honours and won the CVC Scholarship for International Entrepreneurship Research. A former Young Australian of the Year finalist, Julia is a also a youth representative on a variety of state and federal committees, and was a youth delegate at the 2020 summit.

Anna Garsia BSc (Advanced) ’06 LLB ’09
In recognition of her academic ability, Anna has received an array of honours including the University Medal in Biochemistry and the Goldman Sachs Global Leadership Program Award. She also participated in the law-specific exchange to Harvard Law School in 2008. Moreover, Anna is a gifted debater who has competed at the Australasian Championships and at the World Universities Debating Championship, where she attained victory in 2007. She has also contributed to university life as a Debates Committee member, Honi Soit editor, Honorary Secretary of the Sydney University Law Society and Design Editor of the women’s law journal Yemaya.

Casey Handmer BSc (Advanced Mathematics) ’08
A passionate musician as well as a keen scientist, Casey has taken part in every student music organisation on campus including the Sydney University Musical Society, the Madrigal Society, JazzSoc and the Sydney University Symphony Orchestra. He has also been an active participant in dramatic productions such as the Science Revue, performing in over 170 concerts and shows in total. Casey has also given his time to faculty-based societies including MathsSoc, SciSoc and FrenchSoc and was elected to the SRC in 2008. He has won a number of academic awards including the Farrand Scholarship and the Malcolm Turki Memorial Scholarship.

He has also had his scholarly research accepted into the Australasian Language Technology Association and has presented at a leading computational linguistics conference in Athens. Meanwhile, Joel has been vigorously involved in student life, taking on executive positions with the Australasian Union of Jewish Students at Sydney University and lending his talents to the Madrigal Society both as a tenor and as the society’s Treasurer. He is the current recipient of both a Vice-Chancellor’s Research Scholarship and a Capital Markets CRC Scholarship for his doctorate studies.

Ruchir Punjabi BCST (Advanced) ’08
Ruchir is perhaps best known to students for his term as President of the Union, where he successfully navigated the organisation through the uncertain environment of VSU. He is a former International House resident who has been actively involved in campaigning for the rights of international students as the SRC International Students Officer, in which role he co-convened the Cross-Campus Concessions Coalition. He has also taken on executive positions with other student groups including the Sydney University IT Society. Ruchir has been awarded several honours for his academic work including the Microsoft Research Asia Prize for a Senior Software Development Project.
Daniel Rifkin BPharm ’09
Daniel has left a lasting impression on Sydney’s community of pharmacy students. He served as an effective student representative on Pharmacy’s Student/Staff Liaison Committee and played a key role in organising the National Australian Pharmacy Students Association Congress, of which he was Honorary Treasurer. He has also dedicated his time as a mentor of first year students in a Pharmacy Association program. Yet another achievement was captaining the University’s team in the inaugural Pharmacy Guild of Australia Student Business Plan Competition, which was won by Sydney University. He is a talented swimmer who won medals for Australia at the 17th and 18th Maccabiah Games in Israel in 2005 and 2009, and also represented the University of Sydney at the Australian University Games in Perth in 2005 and the Gold Coast in 2007. Daniel graduated with First Class Honours.

Leith Robertson BHlthSci ’08
Leith has played an important role in enriching student culture at the Faculty of Health Sciences and raising the profile of the student body. In 2007, he was elected Vice-President of the Cumberland Student Guild and also served on the SRC as Inter-campus Liaison Officer. In 2008, he became President of the Cumberland Student Guild and Vice-President of the SRC. His diverse achievements include reinvigorating sport at the Faculty: there are now some 300 sporting participants in Health Sciences. Leith has also served as an undergraduate representative on the Health Sciences Coursework and Curriculum Subcommittee and student ambassador for the Faculty.

May Samali BEcSocSc ’09
May is a recipient of the University Medal in Government and International Relations and a diverse range of other awards and prizes including the Wayne Lonergan Distinguished Undergraduate Scholarship. She has also made extensive contributions to the life of the campus. May is currently President of the Sydney University Law Society and has served as Vice-President and President of the Politics Society, where she organised public lectures and pioneered the Women in Leadership seminar series. She has served as a student representative on the Faculty of Economics and Business Reference Group and an Associate Editor of The Sydney Globalist, and has also participated in numerous other university committees.

Claire Stewart BSc (Advanced) ’05 MB BS ’09
Claire is a strong academic achiever who has also made a lively contribution to Sydney’s medical student community. She was an active member of the Medical Students’ Society and produced the Medical Society Revue, which raised $15,000 for Dubbo Base Hospital. She was also a delegate at the first National Medical Leadership Seminar in Canberra, represented the University in the Australian Medical Students Association and helped to found the NSW Medical Students’ Council, where she became Honorary Secretary. Claire served on several Faculty Boards in 2007 and 2008 as a student spokesperson in curriculum reviews and is a volunteer tutor for current medical students. She is a former resident of Sancta Sophia College.

Dee Taylor-Graham BVA ’09
Dee has worked tirelessly to enhance the vibrant community at Sydney College of the Arts. As a Student Ambassador, she has helped SCA engage with the wider community by facilitating ceramics workshops for children and school tours, assisting with portfolio development for artists and helping to promote the College at off-campus events. She has also volunteered her time to take on a range of other responsibilities for SCA from organising festivities for the Ceramics Studio to creating t-shirts for Open Days. Dee excelled in her academic studies, receiving the University Medal in Visual Arts.
Samuel Thampapillai BEc ’09
Sam has been involved in a rich assortment of extracurricular activities. A skilled orator, he has won a string of debating competitions and represented the university internationally. He co-founded the Advocacy Arm of Aid and Development organisation Palmera Projects, which empowers marginalised communities in Sri Lanka and Cambodia. Sam has also served as Treasurer of the Sydney University Law Society and policy convenor for the St Vincent de Paul Society, whilst also undertaking human rights work with the Centre for Peace and Conflict Studies. A keen sportsman, he has played in the boxing, tennis and touch football clubs. He attained First Class Honours in his Economics degree in addition to multiple prizes and scholarships.

Daniel Wodak BA ’09
Daniel has dedicated his time to an array of student publications while on campus. He served as an editor of Honi Soit, The Bull & The Union Recorder, Dissent and The Sydney Globalist and has sat on the SRC where he was Director of Student Publications. Debating is a great passion for Daniel, who was a Grand Finalist at the Australian Intervarsity Debating Championships and adjudicated at the World Intervarsity Championships. He also oversaw a successful mentoring program as Director of Debates with the Debates Society. Daniel received the University Medal in Philosophy and the John Anderson Award for Best Thesis. He is a former resident of St Paul’s College.
