

CORPORATE, SECURITIES & FINANCE LAW PROGRAM 2012

Sydney Law School offers an innovative and internationally recognised program in Corporate, Securities and Finance Law. The program is taught by a distinguished group of Resident, Adjunct, and International Faculty members, with extensive experience in the business law area.

Program Coordinator: Professor Jennifer Hill, Director, Ross Parsons Centre of Commercial, Corporate and Taxation Law

Sydney Law School offers an innovative and internationally recognised program in Corporate, Securities and Finance Law. Students interested in business law can choose from a wide array of courses in the areas of corporate governance and regulation; corporate finance and securities law; acquisitions and restructuring and insolvency. Many of these units are taught from a comparative and international perspective. The aim of the program is to equip students with expertise to practise business law in a global environment.

The Director of the program is Professor Jennifer Hill, who is a leading corporate law scholar and has written widely in the field. She has taught at a number of U.S. law schools, including Vanderbilt University, Cornell and the University of Virginia. She is also a Research Associate of the European Corporate Governance Institute (ECGI).

The program is taught by a distinguished group of Resident, Adjunct, and International Faculty members with extensive experience in business law. Resident Faculty members include Professor Hill and Associate Professor Saul Fridman (corporate law); Professors Sheelagh McCracken and John Stumbles (finance law); Associate Professor Joanna Bird (financial market regulation). Adjunct Faculty members comprise judges, barristers and solicitors.

In 2012-2013, International Faculty Members will include Professor Geoffrey P. Miller, Stuyvesant P. Comfort Professor of Law, New York University; Associate Professor Ian Lee, University of Toronto; and Professor Sarah Worthington, Downing Professor of the Laws of England, University of Cambridge.

Students can choose from a range of qualifications, including the Graduate Diploma in Corporate, Securities & Finance Law (GradDipCorpLaw); the Master of Business Law (MBL); and the Master of Laws (LLM). Students can also enrol in single units as part of their professional development under the Legal Professional Development program (LPD). Single unit enrolment students are not required to undertake assignments or examinations. For further details, see:
