On behalf of the Legal Profession Admission Board and the Law Extension Committee we welcome all students to the Winter 2006 teaching session and September 2006 Examinations, especially those who are new to the Board’s course.

The Board, which is the admitting authority for legal practitioners in New South Wales, conducts examinations in all subjects which qualify you academically for admission to practice.

The University of Sydney Law Extension Committee provides legal education for the Board’s students in the form of lectures, weekend schools, library facilities and specialised library support, subject guides and materials, the setting and marking of assignments and online resources.

The professional orientation of the examinations is reflected in the curriculum, and in the backgrounds and expertise of the examiners and teachers, who come from both practice and university. A Committee established by the Board’s Rules oversees the Board’s curriculum and the progression of students through the course.

The Board and the Law Extension Committee together aim to provide a course that is readily accessible and academically rigorous. We hope that you will benefit from your studies and achieve your objectives in obtaining an education in law as a stepping stone in your career.

Hon Mr Justice W V Windeyer
President,
Legal Profession Admission Board

Magistrate Daphne A Kok
Chairperson,
Law Extension Committee
