Email discussion groups are provided for each of the 25 subjects.

These lists are designed primarily for you to discuss your studies and exchange ideas, and are also an effective way for students, especially external students, to get in contact with others studying the Diploma in Law course.

Some lecturers have indicated their willingness to browse the discussions taking place, and if time allows provide some input, however the email list discussions are designed to be student-driven.

To subscribe to any of the email lists, go to the email lists page of the LEC Website at:

http://www.usyd.edu.au/services and follow the instructions below.

1. Click on the button "Open Email Subscription Page".

2. A new window called LEC Email Lists should pop up. Enter your Surname and Student Number in the appropriate boxes and click "login". Please note that the Surname is case sensitive, so if, for example your surname is "Smith", enter "Smith" and not "SMITH" or "smith".

3. Type in your preferred email address for use on the email discussion lists. This does not have to be your Sydney University email address.

4. Click the boxes for all the email discussion lists you wish to subscribe to.

5. When you have made your selection, click the "Update" button at the bottom of the page.

6. When you have finished, close the window.

7. You should receive a confirmation email from each of the lists that you have subscribed to, shortly after you have clicked "Update".

You can change the lists you are subscribed to, or the email address you wish to use to subscribe to the lists, at any time by going back to the LEC Email Lists page and following the instructions above.
