Photobiomodulation - What is it and why is it proving so successful in treating major diseases such as -

- Parkinson’s
- Alzheimer’s
- Chronic Pain
- Traumatic Brain Injury and Stroke

And more…………………..

Come along and hear Michael R Hamblin PhD, World leader in Photobiomodulation explain…

Michael R Hamblin Ph.D. is a Principal Investigator at Wellman Center for Photomedicine, Massachusetts General Hospital, and an Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School. He has interests in photodynamic therapy and photobiomodulation. He has published 402 peer-reviewed articles, is Editor/Associate Editor for 10 journals and serves on NIH Study-Sections. He has an h-factor 88 and >30,000 citations. He has authored/edited 23 textbooks on PDT and photomedicine including SPIE proceedings. Dr Hamblin was elected as a Fellow of SPIE in 2011, received 1st Endre Mester Lifetime Achievement Award in Photomedicine from NAALT in 2017, and Outstanding Career Award from Dose Response Society in 2018.