Grant and scholarship expenditure
Total grant and scholarship expenditure remained steady with Sydney Medical School Foundation distributing $5,650,239 in support of research and $336,610 in support of scholarships, awards, and prizes.

The Foundation funded programs within each of the School’s major research areas including: obesity, diabetes, and cardiovascular disease; cancer; neurosciences and mental health; infectious diseases; and lifespan. Cancer research received the highest amount of funding followed closely by cardiovascular and heart disease research. (Figure 1)
Donation income
Donations to the Foundation totalled $2,797,465 for the year with gifts received for research, teaching, and learning across a number of the major research themes across Sydney Medical School.

Gifts to support scholarships, awards, and prizes at Sydney Medical School continued to be the preferred area of support by donors with a total of $827,077 received by the Foundation in 2017 for both postgraduate research, and medical student education. (Figure 2)

Administrative costs
Administrative costs remained low at 1.3% of total income. (Figure 3)

Total equity
Total equity grew by $4,958,896 remaining strong at $117,393,915. (Figure 4)

QS World University Rankings
Sydney Medical School ranked 15th internationally, and first in Australia, in the 2017 QS World University Rankings by subject for Medicine.
President’s Report
Ms Robin Low

Since joining Sydney Medical School Foundation in 2012 it has been a privilege to work alongside the exceptional people who comprise the Foundation’s Council. It was then with great regret that Foundation councillors accepted the resignation of our President, Mr Robert Salteri, in early 2017.

During his seven years of service with the Foundation Mr Salteri focussed Council’s attention on our mission to increase the capacity of the Foundation to support teaching and research at Sydney Medical School. As well as being an exceptional leader Mr Salteri was a generous donor who gave more than $850,000 in support of two projects led by Professor Stephen Simpson. The first investigated the role of protein consumption on ageing and cognitive function while the second researched links between congenital cytomegalovirus and cerebral palsy in newborns.

On behalf of the Foundation, Sydney Medical School, and my fellow Council members, I would like to thank Mr Salteri for his leadership and support over the past seven years.

I would also like to thank my fellow Council members including Professor Arthur Conigrave, Dean of Sydney Medical School, for their assistance during this time of transition for the Foundation.

In 2017 the Foundation’s support of research and education remained strong with more than $5.6 million expended to support research programs specialising in cancer, ageing and Alzheimer’s disease, heart disease, adolescent medicine, and many more. In addition, the Foundation provided over $300,000 in support for post-graduate research programs to PhD and masters students in 2017.

We look forward to further promoting the Foundation’s mission to improve the health of all Australians by investing in a comprehensive program of world-class research and learning at Sydney Medical School. But to do this we continue to need the support of our wonderful donors and benefactors.

Ms Robin Low
Dean’s Message
Professor Arthur Conigrave

Sydney Medical School Foundation continued to provide integral financial support to Sydney Medical School by contributing more than $5.9 million to research programs and students in 2017. Without this generosity from our donors, many of our research programs would remain unfunded. It is because of their gifts to the Foundation that we are able to support programs such as Associate Professor Kirsty Foster’s Office for Global Health Scholarships, to support bilateral student exchange in the Asia Pacific region, and Professor Kate Steinbeck’s Medical Foundation Chair in Adolescent Medicine.

From all of us at Sydney Medical School and the Foundation - thank you to all our donors.

As well as supporting established research programs such as Chairs, the Foundation has a special interest in providing seed funding for early career researchers. This not only allows our next generation of researchers to gain much needed experience in their respective fields, but it also generates the initial results for research programs that form the basis of NHMRC funding applications.

In 2017, Sydney Medical School ranked second nationwide for NHMRC funding, and ranked first for applications awarded within clinical medicine and sciences, health services research, NHMRC Centres of Research Excellence, Boosting Dementia Fellowships, and Practitioner Fellowships. This success in NHMRC funding arises in no small measure to the Foundation’s upfront investments.

It is a combination of this impressive research performance and our exceptional teaching capacity that enables Sydney Medical School to provide world-class medical education to our students. This is evidenced by our 2017 QS ranking of 15th best medical school internationally.

It is my pleasure to announce that Professor Robyn Ward will join the new Faculty of Medicine and Health as Executive Dean in July 2018. In the meantime, Professor Alan Pettigrew will be the Acting Executive Dean as our new Faculty, and its leadership structure takes shape from April 2018. The New Year will prove to be an exciting period of change for Sydney Medical School, and I look forward to building the relationship between the Foundation, Sydney Medical School, and the new Faculty of Medicine and Health.

In closing I would like to thank the Foundation’s outgoing President Mr Robert Salteri for his exceptional leadership and generosity over the past 7 years. He will be very much missed. I would also like to thank the Foundation’s Council members, particularly Ms Robin Low for her ongoing commitment to the Foundation first as our Treasurer, and Deputy President, and now as the new President of the Foundation. I very much look forward to continuing the close working relationship between Sydney Medical School and its Foundation in 2018.

Professor Arthur Conigrave

Governance Statement and Council Members

Sydney Medical School Foundation recognises the importance and benefit of reviewing its adoption and alignment with governance principles and provides the following report.

Principle 1 – Lay solid foundations for management and oversight

Nature of the entity
Sydney Medical School Foundation is a part of the University of Sydney ABN 15211513464 and not separately incorporated under a state or commonwealth Act. The Foundation is required to gain prior approval for its fundraising activities from the appropriate University delegate. The Foundation’s activities are not-for-profit and covered by the DGR status of the University of Sydney. The University is exempted from the requirement to hold an Authority to Fundraise and obligations upon holders of such an authority but is still required to comply with the balance of provisions of the Charitable Fundraising Act.

Roles of Council and management
The Foundation operates under the authority of the Senate of the University of Sydney, as approved on 1 July 2006 and has no powers of delegation. The Foundation conducts its affairs pursuant to the Foundation Rules and the relevant policies of the University.

Principle 2 – Structure of the Council to add value
The Council of Sydney Medical School Foundation consisted of the following members:

Mr Robert Salteri
Qualifications and experience: Robert Salteri is a Director of the major Australian industry/technology company, the Tenix Group, with headquarters in Sydney, Australia. He is also a director of a medium sized funds management company. From July 2001 to February 2007, he was Chief Executive Officer of one of the Group’s major business units, Tenix Defence Pty Ltd, prior to its sale in 2007. Robert worked for Gold Copper Exploration Pty Ltd in the Torres Strait and the Atherton Tableland from 1986 and 1988 as a Project Engineer and then as Project Manager. He joined Transfield Construction in 1988 as General Manager of the Victorian Division, and in 1991, was appointed Deputy Chief Executive of AMECON, a marine and heavy engineering company servicing defence, oil and gas and resource industries. In 1993, AMECON become Transfield Shipbuilding Ltd. In 1994, Robert was appointed Director, Victoria, for Transfield Holdings Pty Ltd, and later Deputy Chief Executive, Transfield Construction. Following the reorganisation of the former Transfield Group in 1997, Robert became an Executive Director of Tenix Pty Limited. Robert has been a director of Boutique Wines Australia and Australian Theatre for Young People. He was born in 1961, married Kelly in 1987, and they have three children and live in Sydney. Robert’s interests include skiing and sailing. He represented Australia at the World 12 Metre Sailing Championships in Sardinia in 1984.

Professor Arthur Conigrave
Qualifications and experience: Professor Arthur Conigrave was appointed Dean of Sydney Medical School in 2016. As Dean, he leads one of the largest medical schools in Australia and the most research-intensive faculty within the University of Sydney. Sydney Medical School has more than 3000 academic faculty members and teaches over 5000 students across undergraduate medical sciences, medicine, postgraduate professional courses and higher research degrees. Prior to his appointment as Dean, Professor Conigrave held a number of leadership roles including Head of the School of Molecular Bioscience from 2007-10, and since 2011, Deputy Dean and Associate Dean (Finance and Administration) in Sydney Medical School. Professor Conigrave is an endocrinologist specialising in the clinical management of patients with metabolic bone disease (including osteoporosis and disorders of calcium metabolism), and an internationally recognised researcher in molecular endocrinology. He has a special interest in the manner in which cells ‘sense’ nutrients in their external environment and the role of nutrient-sensing receptors in the metabolic basis of health and disease. Professor Conigrave’s work has clarified the links between calcium and amino acid metabolism, which has implications for bone health and disease. He is an expert on Calcium Sensing Receptor (CaSR) signaling mechanisms and he accurately predicted that the CaSR mediates L-amino acid-induced release of important gut hormones. Professor Conigrave is past Chair of the NHMRC Grant Review Panel in Musculoskeletal Medicine and a two-time winner of the Lilly Endocrinology Research Awards.

Professor John Watson
Qualifications and experience: Professor John Watson commenced medical studies at the University of Sydney in 1973, interrupting this course to take a BSc (First Class Honours) in Neurophysiology. He was the New South Wales Rhodes Scholar for 1977, which enabled him to travel to Oxford University for a Doctorate in Philosophy, also in Neurophysiology. Returning to the University of Sydney in 1981 he completed his medical studies, again obtaining First Class Honours, before commencing work as an Intern, RMO and Registrar at Royal Prince Alfred Hospital. In 1990 he travelled to London where he was a Lecturer and Senior Registrar in Neurology at the Institute of Neurology, Queen Square and the Royal Postgraduate Medical School, Hammersmith Hospital. After a year in this position he became a Wellcome Trust Research Fellow at University College London, and the MRC Cyclotron Unit, Hammersmith Hospital. Here he undertook functional brain imaging research using Positron Emission Tomography (PET) to explore the visual system of the human brain, and the relationship between the structure and function of the human brain; research he continues to this day. Professor Watson has published some 47 peer reviewed original articles, invited articles and chapters in books. He regularly is invited to give research and clinical lectures and seminars, examines higher degree theses and has supervised seven Masters and Doctoral students. He is on the Behavioural Neurology Subcommittee of the Australian & New Zealand Association of Neurologists, and has served as its Chair. He has presented clinical and research material many times on the radio and in the press.

For over three years he was the Chair of the University of Sydney Human Ethics Committee, and recently completed a second three year term as Chair. In late 2010 he was appointed Professor of Medicine, Sydney Medical School at Sydney Adventist Hospital and is Associate Dean of the newly formed Clinical School at Sydney Adventist Hospital.

Council members were elected at the Foundation’s AGM on 22 March 2017. There is a nomination committee of the Foundation. The full Council resolves on nominations for co-opting of members to fill vacancies outside of the process of election at the AGM. There was not a performance evaluation of the Council undertaken in the reporting period.
Principle 3 – Promote ethical and responsible decision-making

Council members have been provided with the University of Sydney Foundation Governance Guide, Foundation Rules, Code of Conduct, Work Health & Safety policy and the External Interests policy. All these policies are available on the University’s Policy Register, as are other relevant University policies regarding harassment, grievance procedures, and the Delegations of Authority.

Principle 4 – Safeguard integrity in financial reporting

The annual accounts of the Foundation are prepared by the financial staff of the University, signed off by Petrus Swemmer, Finance Director, Faculties of Health and are included in this Annual Report to the Senate. The Foundation is part of the University and therefore does not have its own audit sub-committee. While the Annual Financial Report of the University is audited by the Audit Office of NSW, the Annual Report of the Foundation has not itself been audited.

The Foundation undertook the following fundraising appeals during 2017; the Sydney Development Fund Tax Appeal; the Sydney Development Fund Spring Appeal; and the Sydney Development Fund Telephone Appeal. In conducting those appeals the Foundation took all reasonable steps to ensure that commissions paid or payable to any person as part of a fundraising appeal did not exceed one-third of the gross money obtained by that person in the appeal and appropriate particulars of all items of gross income received or receivable, all items of expenditure incurred, including the application or disposition of any income obtained from the appeal and particulars of those transactions to which they related were recorded in the minutes of the Foundation.

Principle 5 – Make timely and balanced disclosure

The Foundation complied with the reporting and disclosure requirements of the Senate. These include an annual budget and this Annual Report. Members and Council have been made aware of the processes for disclosure pursuant to the Code of Conduct, and External Interests policy, which include protected disclosure to the ICAC, to the Ombudsman, or the Auditor General.

Principle 6 – Respect the rights of shareholders, members, staff, volunteers, clients, & other stakeholders

The Foundation Council consists of members of the community, industry bodies, and the University whose input is invited via the Annual General Meeting and Council meetings of the Foundation. The following meetings have been held during the year to involve stakeholders in election of the Council, activities of the Foundation or other stakeholder participation:

Council meetings
- 22 March 2017 (Annual General Meeting & Council meeting)
- 9 October 2017

Scientific Advisory Committee meetings
- 6 March 2017
- 5 June 2017
- 28 August 2017
- 13 November 2017
Under the Charitable Fundraising Act, the University may be questioned about any appeal on details of the purpose of the appeal such as the appeal target, objectives, distribution of proceeds, and the process to provide answers. The Foundation outlines those activities in this annual report. There have been no specific requests for information to the Foundation. Other enquiries may have been made to other parts of the University.

Principle 7 – Recognise and manage risk
The Foundation recognises its activities within University premises or other premises require risks such as health and safety, environmental protection, privacy, trade practices, and compliance with the Charitable Fundraising Act to be considered and managed. The Foundation has managed these risks during the year by following to the best of its knowledge the following University policies; Code of Conduct, Occupational Health & Safety, Equity & Diversity, Conflicts of Interest; Corruption Prevention, and the University Privacy Policy.

Principle 8 – Remunerate fairly and responsibly
No member of a Council is entitled to receive any remuneration for acting in that capacity except reasonable remuneration on a basis which has first been approved in writing by the University Officer (Foundations). Members of the Foundation Council may be reimbursed for reasonable expenses after written approval of the University Officer (Foundations). Any such instances are recorded in the minutes of the Council.
Notes to the Financial Statements
for the year ended 31 December 2017

1. Statement of Significant Accounting Policies
   (a) These financial statements are special purpose financial statements that have been prepared on an accruals basis.

   (b) Income tax is not applicable to activities of the Foundation.

   (c) Some comparative items have been reclassified to conform to the current year’s presentation.

   (d) All fixed assets are expensed in the year of purchase with the exception of the interest in a property.

2. Investments
