7 Principles

- (1) The University will pay executives and senior professional staff an agreed annual fixed package, which will be the sum of:
 - (a) base salary;
 - (b) loadings and allowances; and
 - (c) employer superannuation contributions.
- (2) The fixed package will be the basis for setting, reviewing and communicating executive and senior professional staff remuneration packages.
- (3) For non-exempt senior professional staff, the review of fixed package will include as a minimum the base salary increase agreed under the Enterprise Agreement.
- (4) Any changes to an individual component of a fixed package must preserve superannuation contributions consistently with applicable legislative requirements and the Enterprise Agreement.

Note: Refer to the Australian Tax Office website for more information.

- (5) Loadings should only be used:
 - (a) for temporary additional duties; or
 - (b) as required by the Enterprise Agreement.

Note: See clause 13.

8 Market benchmarking

- (1) The University will benchmark remuneration for executives and senior professional staff in order to remain competitive and attract appropriately talented people.
- (2) The University will use university market benchmarking for roles that are:
 - (a) unique to the university market;
 - (b) hard to locate in the general market; or
 - (c) readily found in both the university market and the general market, with an available supply in both.
- (3) The University will use general market benchmarking for roles that are:
 - (a) critical, where the University needs to compete beyond the university market to attract appropriate people;
 - (b) not university specific;
 - (c) uncommon in the university market, with limited benchmarks; or
 - (d) subject to a shortage of appropriately qualified people, with premiums being paid for such positions in the general market.
- (4) When using market data, the University will benchmark remuneration (where possible) against a peer group of Group of 8 Universities, filtered by faculty if relevant for the role.

- (5) When using general market data, the University may use a peer group of organisations with similar staff numbers or comparable locations, provided the sample size of the peer group is sufficient to return meaningful data.
- (6) Where it is necessary to compete beyond the Australian university market, the University may use relevant customised research, or overseas or industry surveys for benchmarking for roles.

9 Banding structure

- (1) The University will use fixed package bands as a guide in setting and reviewing fixed packages, under the following circumstances:
 - (a) proposing, negotiating and setting fixed packages for new staff;
 - (b) adjusting fixed packages when roles are changed;
 - (c) annual remuneration reviews; and
 - (d) approved off-cycle reviews in cases such as contract renewal or to retain key staff.

Note: See clause 11.
- (2) The Chief Human Resources Officer will annually:
 - (a) review the fixed package bands for each executive role using benchmark remuneration data to ensure they remain competitive; and
 - (b) recommend appropriate fixed package bands for approval by the relevant delegate.
- (3) The Chief Human Resources Officer will annually:
 - (a) review the fixed package bands for senior professional staff levels A to D using benchmark remuneration data to ensure they remain competitive; and
 - (b) recommend appropriate fixed package bands for approval by the relevant delegate.
- (4) Each fixed package band will include a minimum and maximum pay range that allows for variation and differentiation based on experience, capability and performance.
- (5) As part of the annual review process, the University will review all executives and senior professional staff against the relevant fixed package band for the role.

10 Recruitment

- (1) When recruiting or appointing new executives or senior professional staff, proposed remuneration should be based on the principles in clause 29.
- (2) Fixed packages for new executives and senior professional staff should not exceed the midpoint of the applicable fixed package band, with the following exception.
 - (a) Fixed packages above the midpoint:
 - (i) must be approved by the relevant delegate before being offered; and
 - (ii) should only be used to recruit critical executive or senior professional staff.

- (3) Where possible, contract renewal dates should be set to correspond with the annual remuneration review process in Part 4 of this policy.

11 Off-cycle remuneration increases

- (1) Increases to executive and senior professional staff remuneration outside of the annual review process will only be permitted:
 - (a) for contract renewal or retaining key staff; and
 - (b) with the approval of each of the Chief Human Resources Officer and Vice-Chancellor.

12 Managing pay anomalies

- (1) A pay anomaly occurs when the fixed package for an executive or senior professional staff member is inconsistent with:
 - (a) the fixed package band for their role or level; or
 - (b) their performance, experience and capabilities.
- (2) If a supervisor believes a pay anomaly may exist, they must obtain advice from Human Resources before discussing the matter with the relevant Executive or Senior Professional Staff member.
- (3) If a pay anomaly is identified, the staff member's supervisor and the Chief Human Resources Officer will:
 - (a) develop a plan to address it;
 - (b) obtain expert advice where appropriate; and
 - (c) make recommendations to the relevant delegate.

Note: Depending on the advice, approval of multiple delegates may be required. See University of Sydney \(Delegations of Authority – Administrative Functions\) Rule 2016.

- (4) Remuneration adjustments approved by the relevant delegate will be made only during the annual remuneration review process.

13 Loadings and allowances

- (1) A non-exempt staff member may be paid a loading or allowance in accordance with the Enterprise Agreement.
- (2) An exempt staff member may be paid a loading or an allowance only if the individual is:
 - (a) acting in a temporary role for a substantial period of time, and has been allocated additional duties that are significantly beyond the scope of their substantive role;
 - (i) In this case, a non-superannuable additional duties allowance may be paid for a period of no more than six months.
 - (ii) After six months the requirement for an additional duties allowance must be reviewed.
 - (b) seconded to another role; or

- (c) eligible for a loading under the Clinical and Dental Loadings Policy.
- (3) An exempt staff member is not entitled to a loading or an allowance for:
 - (a) deputising for a more senior staff member if this is specified in their position description (or equivalent) as a substantive responsibility;
 - (b) undertaking project-related responsibilities for projects related to or impacting on the usual responsibility area; or
 - (c) covering the responsibilities of a colleague who is on a period of leave of less than three months.
- (4) Any loading or allowance (excluding additional duties allowances) must be considered by the relevant delegate during the annual remuneration review, for consistency with this policy.
- (5) Before recommending loadings or allowances, the supervisor must consult their HR Partner for advice on:
 - (a) whether a loading or allowance may be paid under subclause 13(3);
 - (b) the appropriate amount of additional remuneration (as a percentage of base salary or fixed dollar amount); and
 - (c) the length of time the additional remuneration should be in effect.

- (9) Senior professional staff who are on unpaid leave for a combined total of more than 14 weeks, but less than six months may participate in the performance bonus plan on a pro rata basis, taking into account periods of absence.

- (1) The amount of the performance bonus to be paid to senior professional staff will be based on the individual's performance rating determined through the performance planning and review process.

- (3) Senior Professional Staff who wish to salary sacrifice all or part of their bonus payment must notify the HR Service Centre before the commencement of the University's annual closedown in December of the relevant performance year.

PART 4 – ANNUAL REMUNERATION REVIEW

26 Principles

- (1) The University will review executive and senior professional staff remuneration policy annually.
- (2) The Chief Human Resources Officer will conduct the review process in consultation with supervisors, key stakeholders and relevant delegates.
Note: See clause 11 for off-cycle remuneration increases.
- (3) The review will consider:
 - (a) whether fixed packages should be adjusted (including assessment of any loadings); and
 - (b) bonus potentials for participants in the Executive Performance Bonus Plan and Senior Professional Staff Performance Bonus Plan.
- (4) The Chief Human Resources Officer will determine the timetable and process for the annual remuneration review in March of each year and will inform executives and senior professional staff in writing in April of each year.

27 Fixed package review

- (1) For executives, the supervisor and the Senate People and Culture Remuneration Subcommittee will review fixed packages in July each year, or as soon as practicable thereafter.
- (2) For senior professional staff, the supervisor and the relevant delegate will review fixed packages in July each year.
- (3) The review will take into account:
 - (a) the current executive or senior professional staff remuneration structure, including fixed package bands and comparative market remuneration data;
 - (b) the individual's current position within the fixed package band for their level;
 - (c) loadings or allowances, as provided in clause 13;
 - (d) individual performance;
 - (e) the economic environment;
 - (f) the University's ability to pay for any remuneration increases;
 - (g) increases required by the Enterprise Agreement; and
 - (h) gender pay equity.
- (4) The following factors are relevant to consideration of the economic environment:
 - (a) salary movements in the market (which may vary by faculty, portfolio of responsibility, or professional services unit), based on supply and demand factors relating to particular jobs or skills;
 - (b) inflation;
 - (c) legislative or regulatory requirements;
 - (d) economic conditions, whether local, national or international.

- (5) Any adjustments to remuneration will be effective from the beginning of the first pay period in July.

28 Review of fixed package bands

- (1) The University's Human Resources unit must update the benchmark data underpinning the executive and senior professional staff fixed package bands annually.
- (2) The Chief Human Resources Officer must consider this review and recommend any adjustment to the fixed package bands for executives and senior professional staff to the Vice Chancellor and the Senate People and Culture Remuneration Subcommittee.

Note: Refer to Part 1 for further information on market benchmarking and setting fixed pay bands.

29 Review of position within fixed package bands

- (1) When making recommendations to change an executive or senior professional staff member's relative position within a fixed package band, the relevant supervisor and delegate must consider:
- (a) the individual's relative position within the current fixed package band; and
 - (b) their performance in their role.
- (2) Decisions on positioning within fixed package bands should be based on the following principles.
- (a) Upper end of the band is appropriate if the individual is:
 - (i) consistently performing at a high level;
 - (ii) highly capable, and consistently applying unique or critical skills; and
 - (iii) consistently making significant, high quality contributions relative to others at the same level;or
 - (iv) a key or critical member of staff and the fixed package is considered necessary to retain them.
 - (b) Middle of the band is appropriate if the individual is consistently:
 - (i) performing effectively;
 - (ii) meeting the key requirements of their role; and
 - (iii) demonstrating the key capabilities required to make positive contributions.
 - (c) Lower end of the band is appropriate if the individual:
 - (i) may be new to the role or to the level;
 - (ii) is developing some of the capabilities to meet all the key requirements of the role;
 - (iii) may be performing inconsistently;
 - (iv) may not be making consistent high-quality contributions relative to others at the same level.

- (d) Positioning within the band should be based on the consistent level of performance, contribution and impact made by the individual over time, and should not be influenced by short term performance or gender bias.
- (3) An individual's most recent performance rating should be taken into consideration when making decisions regarding any proposed changes in remuneration.

30 Funding

- (1) Fixed package increases will depend on the University's ability to fund them, including the corresponding effect on related payments such as bonuses and superannuation.
- (2) The Senate People and Culture Remuneration Subcommittee will determine the amount of any budget increase for executives and senior professional staff as two separate groups, during the annual remuneration review.
- (3) The budget will as a minimum provide funding for increases required under the Enterprise Agreement.
- (4) Remuneration increases must not exceed the allocated budget.

31 Bonus potential review

- (1) Bonus potentials will be set and based on guidance approved by the Senate People and Culture Remuneration Subcommittee, which will be reviewed by November each year or as soon as practicable thereafter.
- (2) The relevant supervisor and delegate will review each executive and senior professional staff member's participation in the Executive Performance Bonus Plan or Senior Professional Staff Performance Bonus Plan, and their bonus potential, by November, or as soon as practicable thereafter, prior to the relevant performance year.
- (3) The objectives of this review should be to ensure that bonus potentials:
 - (a) are consistent with the market: benchmarking and market practice should guide the participation and size of bonus potentials; and
 - (b) are internally consistent: there should be even participation and consistent bonus potentials within each of the executive and senior professional staff groups and employment contract types; and
 - (c) take into consideration gender pay equity.
