Background

Established by the Carlyle Greenwell Research Fund, the Completion Scholarship is available to support enrolled postgraduate research degree candidates in the Department of Anthropology.

Selection criteria

- Honours students must outline their project in a page.
- Graduate students must present sufficient detail (maximum 2 pages) to explain the following details of their project:
  a) brief outline of the research problem
  b) brief outline of the intellectual background to this problem
  c) the proposed research for which you now seek Greenwell funding, including methods, materials and location
  d) how this work relates to the overall research plan for your degree
  e) (postgraduate students only) if you are seeking Greenwell funding for current research activities which may then require significant additional funding to complete, please comment on how you propose to fund the extra research needed to finish your MPhil/PhD.
