Background
The University of Sydney was the first university in the world to admit students purely on the basis of academic merit. In the 1880s, we were also among the first to admit women on the same basis as men. Margaret Hamer embodies this core value as our first female Engineering graduate.

Selection criteria

- The scholarship shall be awarded on the basis of academic merit as indicated by the applicant’s performance at the N.S.W HSC examination or equivalent.

Ongoing eligibility

- Subject to satisfactory academic progress deemed to be a credit average (65%) and above

- Deferment of the scholarship is not permitted

- The scholarship shall be tenable in the Faculty of Engineering and Information Technologies at the University of Sydney and shall not be transferable to another faculty or university program.

Payment schedule

- Payment will be made in equal instalments per semester

Termination

The scholarship will be terminated on the following grounds:

- The recipient withdraws from their degree program

- If the recipient changes their program (i.e. course, major or stream) in their first year of study without the prior approval of the Associate Dean (Education)
Termination cont’

The scholarship will be terminated on the following grounds:

- The recipient commences part-time study without the prior consent of the Associate Dean (Education)

- The recipient does not maintain satisfactory academic performance

- The recipient receives and accepts another primary University of Sydney scholarship or faculty scholarship during the duration of this scholarship.

- In the event that the recipient discontinues their course any money paid to the student during that academic year may be requested to be repaid to the Faculty of Engineering and Information Technologies. This is subject to the Associate Dean (Education)’s discretion.

- The recipient will not pursue a course of studies at any institution other than the University of Sydney during the course of the scholarship.
