Background

In 2015, the University of Sydney Business School commenced its 'Women In Leadership Scholarship'. The scholarship is intended to promote academic excellence in the Master of Business Administration degree offered by the University of Sydney Business School.

Selection criteria

- The scholarship is competitive, by application to the UN Women National Committee Australia Scholarship and the Master of Business Administration and awarded on merit to the most outstanding applicants assessed against the following four selection criteria:
  i. prior academic achievement.
  ii. leadership capability, with the successful applicant being required to demonstrate outstanding leadership potential in the business domain
  iii. ambassadorial potential, including outstanding public and professional communication skills; and
  iv. motivation to succeed in business in a socially responsible way by demonstrating a commitment to applying the learning offered in the Master of Business Administration degree to making a positive difference to professional life and business practice.

Ongoing eligibility

- To retain the scholarship for a second semester, the recipient must achieve a minimum 65% credit average in the first semester of their degree.

- The scholarship may not be held concurrently with the UN Women National Committee Australia Scholarship or other University scholarship funds awarded to assist with the student’s tuition fees.
Conditions of award

- The scholarship covers tuition fees for two units of study (12 credit points) undertaken in the Master of Business Administration degree. One unit is paid by the Business School in the Recipient's first semester and the second and final unit is paid in the Recipient's second semester of their degree.

- Under the Award, the tuition fees for the Business School's sponsored units will be cleared following the relevant census dates.

Termination

- The scholarship must be taken up in the semester in which it is offered.

- Scholarship holders are not able to defer or suspend their enrolment in the degree to receive the scholarship, except with the permission of the Program Director, Master of Business Administration.

- The award is conditional on the scholars meeting all program regulations of the Master of Business Administration. In the event that a scholarship holder changes degree or discontinues study, the scholarship is no longer tenable.

- To retain the scholarship for a second semester, the Recipient must achieve a minimum 65% Credit average in the first semester of their degree.

- The scholarship may not be held concurrently with the UN Women National Committee Australia Scholarship or other University scholarship funds awarded to assist with the student's tuition fees.

- Scholarship holders will have the opportunity to promote the Master of Business Administration and the educational mission of the University of Sydney Business School to prospective students and at corporate networking events. They will also have the opportunity to promote the social mission of the UN Women National Committee Australia.
