Applications are called for the Winifred O'Neil University of Sydney Postgraduate Scholarship in Psychology.

The Winifred O'Neil University of Sydney Postgraduate Scholarship was established in 1997 from the estate of Dr Gregory John Lamb O'Neil who was a medical practitioner in Chatswood NSW.

This scholarship is open to full-time postgraduate students in the School of Psychology at the University of Sydney and currently provides $3000 per annum for up to three years. The scholarship shall be tenable for one year in the first instance but may be renewed up to a further period of two years subject to satisfactory progress. The award will be based on meritorious performance in Undergraduate Psychology. Preference will be given to students who are visually impaired or, if there is no visually impaired applicant, to students with other disability. There is the possibility of the Scholarship being awarded to a suitable candidate without disability in the absence of suitable visually impaired or disabled applicants. The scholarship will be awarded on the recommendation of the Head of School of Psychology.

Enquiries should be directed to Damian Birney (psychology.pgcoordinator@sydney.edu.au).

Applications (original plus two copies) should be sent to:
Head, School of Psychology A19, University of Sydney NSW 2006.

Applications should include:

- a brief CV, including an academic transcript
- evidence of disability where this is applicable
- a statement about how the scholarship would assist the applicant to make good progress in their postgraduate candidature
- a letter of support from the applicant's supervisor

Closing date: Monday 17 February 2015
