Would students please note that, for the period from 21 April to 30 May 2016, LexisNexis is offering our students a special discount and free shipping on purchases made through the LexisNexis e-store at www.store.lexisnexis.com.au. Students quoting the promo code LECW2016 will receive a 15% discount on all text titles (except for those authored by John Carter). This discount is not limited to the prescribed or recommended texts for our courses but includes the LexisNexis range of Quick Reference Cards and Glance Cards and LexisNexis study guides and Questions and Answers guides as well as many other texts.

Students should, however, still compare LexisNexis's discounted price with that of other outlets. The Co-op Bookshop, for instance, offers a discount on texts sold to its members.

01 LEGAL INSTITUTIONS

Course Materials (Available through LEC)

- Law Extension Committee, Legal Institutions Course Outline (from p.10 of this subject guide and also available on the LEC Webcampus for download by topic)
- The Course Outline refers you to the Course Materials which may be accessed electronically through the University Library. If you have questions about accessing the case readings and other materials, please contact the LEC Liaison Librarian.
- Guide to the Presentation and Submission of Assignments (available on the LEC Webcampus)

Prescribed Text (Required reading for all students)

- Students should also obtain a good Australian Legal Dictionary.

If they wish, students may purchase a three-book pack of Laying Down the Law (9th ed.), Legal Referencing and LexisNexis Concise Australian Legal Dictionary, 5th ed. LexisNexis 2014, through the Co-op Bookshop, Phillip Street Branch, at a special price, but these texts may also be purchased individually.

Other Materials: Reports, Journals and General References

You will also find the following materials and sources useful in the course

• The CCH Torts Law Library includes the Australian Torts Reporter and Australian Professional Liability - available via CCH Online.
• There are two very useful dedicated Australian tort law journals: the Torts Law Journal and the Tort Law Review both available via UTS library.
• Free online legal databases: AUSTLII and BAILII
The Sydney University Library is also a rich source of several online data bases. The following will be of help in this course:

- AGIS Plus Text via Informit allows you access to the local and overseas journals received by the Attorney-General's Library, Canberra.
- Australian Public Affairs Full Text via Informit allows you access to both legal and non legal Australian journals.
- CaseBase via LexisNexisAu indexes many Australian and some overseas law journals. If the hypertext link works, you have access to the full text of many journal articles.
- HeinOnline in particular The Law Journal Library contains the fulltext of over 500 journals. While the majority of these originate in the United States, many of the major university law reviews from Australia and other common law jurisdictions are also included.
- Index to Legal Periodicals & Books is a US index focusing primarily on US materials plus other common law countries such as the UK, Canada, Australia, New Zealand etc.
- Lexis contains a comprehensive range of United States primary and secondary legal materials and a range of international material from both common and civil law jurisdictions in fulltext. Includes the full text of many journals from various common law countries such as the US, the UK, Canada, Australia, New Zealand etc. This site does NOT provide access to fulltext newspaper services.
- Specialised Australian torts journals include:
  - Torts in focus (CCH)
  - Torts Law Journal (Australia and New Zealand) in print or online via Lawbook Online
  - Torts News in print or online via LexisNexis Au
  - Tort Law Review (Lawbook Co)

04 CONTRACTS

Course Materials

- Guide to Presentation and Submission of Assignments (available on the LEC Webcampus)

Prescribed Materials

Cases underlined in the Prescribed Topics do not appear in the case book and students will need to obtain a copy of those cases.
Note those cases in the prescribed topics marked * are NOT compulsory cases, however, students will be expected to know the general principles of contract law that those cases stand as authority for.

Reference Materials

- Journal of Contract Law

The cases and legislation listed under the heading ‘Prescribed Topics and Course Outline’ should be read as a minimum for students to gain a grounding in the basic principles of contract law.

Students are encouraged to read beyond these materials, and in this respect the other cases mentioned in the textbook and casebook serve as a starting point.

LEC Webcampus

Once you have registered online with the LEC, you will have access to all the facilities on the LEC Webcampus including the problem questions for each class, plus any other materials that the lecturer may make available to students. These course materials as well as links to relevant cases and legislation can be found in the Course Materials section of the LEC Webcampus.
