STEP 1: STEP BY STEP LEC ONLINE REGISTRATION
Go to LEC homepage for current students (www.sydney.edu.au/lec)
Click on the QUICKLINK TO WEBCAMPUS LOGIN

IMPORTANT NOTICE:
If you have an application pending (i.e. progression or exclusion rules or any late applications) with the LPAB, please do not delay your online registration with the LEC and access to the online facilities and materials. Simply enter today’s date to register online and once your application has been processed by the LPAB, you may then contact the LEC to update your online registration if the outcome differs.

STEP 2: The login screen will appear and you will need to enter your family name in title case sensitive (i.e. "Smith", not "smith" or "SMITH"), your six-digit LPAB Student Number and date of birth to log onto the LEC WEBCAMPUS. Press “Login”.

STEP 3: The next screen will appear with “You must register to be able to use these facilities Click here to register”. Simply click on the line to continue to the LEC Registration Form.

STEP 4: You will now be taken to the LEC Registration Form – see over the page.

- ALL students must register online with the Law Extension Committee each session (for this session between 22 October and 30 October 2015).
- For new students, you will need to complete all the fields on the Application for Registration.
- For existing students, you will need to update your address and contact details (if applicable) and enter the subjects for which you have enrolled with the LPAB for the current session.

NOTE:
Your registration details will be live on the system by 6pm the following day.

For each subject you have registered in, when they become available prior to the commencement of your lecture program, download the Subject Guide from the Course Materials section of the LEC Webcampus. Review the course requirements and plan your workload for the semester.

You must ensure that your registration with the LEC is current and accurate in order to ensure that you are able to complete the LEC requirements satisfactorily and to be eligible to sit for the Board’s examinations.

Tasks prescribed by the LEC as compulsory must be completed satisfactorily. The NSW Admission Board Rules 2015 require that students who wish to sit for Board examinations must, in the session immediately preceding the examination, “enrol for and undertake such courses of instruction in the subjects of that examination …as may for the time being be conducted by the Law Extension Committee…” [Rule 72.(1)].

Rule 73 prescribes that, to ensure eligibility to sit for the Board’s examinations, the courses must be completed to the satisfaction of the LEC.

The LEC’s primary educational undertaking is through its evening and weekend school teaching. You obtain a greater benefit from lectures if you have done some preliminary reading and are able to participate. External students should ensure that they are able to attend weekend schools and are most welcome to attend evening lectures when in Sydney.

In this program you need to be highly motivated to study and to succeed, and to be positive in your attitude to studying law.

We wish you well for the coming session and the examinations.

Declaration:
Read the declaration carefully and press the “Submit” button when you have finished.

Submit
Unitek Account Information

NOTE:
To self-register for your Unitek account, please note that you need to have first registered online with the LEC in order to do so.

Self-registrations for your Unitek account will commence on Monday 2 November 2015. Go to LEC homepage for current students (www.sydney.edu.au/lec) and follow the link to the self-registration page.

The LEC online registration process allows the LPAB’s students to gain access to their assignments and course materials (where applicable) by the commencement of their lectures. Students must note that registering online is not a confirmation of their enrolment with the LPAB and that any changes to their enrolment must be notified to the LEC as soon as they are known.

All current students will require a Unitek account to access the resources provided through the Law Library.

How do I set up my Unitek account?

New LPAB/LEC students can generate their own Unitek account through an LPAB Student Self-Registration Page. From the link on the LEC homepage, simply follow the instructions on the page by entering your:

- Student Number (this is the same Six Digit Student Number (i.e. 010000) that you use for your WebcAMPus Login)
- Surname (this is title case sensitive i.e. Smith, not smith or SMITH)
- Date of Birth.

For new students who have registered online by Friday 30 October 2015, self-registration for their Unitek account will commence from Monday 2 November 2015.

Existing students with Unitek accounts?

Existing students will have their Unitek account re-validated once they have completed their online registration between 22 October and 30 October 2015.

Passwords

This process generates an account; however you will then need to assign your own password. Please note that the LEC does not have a record of your password. If you forget this password or have any problems with this process, you may contact the ICT Help Desk by email at: support@sydney.edu.au or the Help Desk number is (02) 9351 6000.

Still not registered on the LEC WebcAMPus?

If you have not registered, between 22 October and 30 October 2015, in each subject for which you are enrolled, you will not have access to the supplementary online resources that are an essential part of the LEC program. Please register immediately to ensure access.
