The Poultry Research Foundation, in conjunction with WPSA - Australian Branch, cordially invites you to the 28th Australian Poultry Science Symposium.

Sheraton on the Park, Sydney

The Australian Poultry Science Symposium is the premier avian science conference in Australia, attracting delegates from right across the country and all around the world. This years conference will focus on the theme of “The Physiology of Poultry Performance”.

The 2017 event is going to be a very exciting one. We are moving away from the University Campus this year, into an inner city location. The move will allow us to access larger, better quality facilities, and provide a greater range of accommodation options for delegates.

It is our goal, over the coming years, to grow the attendance of this conference from the 250 people currently, up to 300-400 delegates. The move this year is the first step towards creating a bigger and better conference in the future.

Looking forward to seeing you all again next year, make sure you save the dates and note the NEW venue:

Monday 13th Feb – Wednesday 15th Feb 2017

Online Paper Submissions will Open on Monday 4th July, 2016

MAJOR THEMES
The Challenge of Low Protein Diets
Adult Bird Nutrition and Management
Gut Health and Physiology

HOT TOPIC
Vitamin D in Eggs

PRELIMINARY INVITED SPEAKERS
Todd Applegate - USA
Rob Gous - South Africa
Mingan Choc - Poultry CRC
Yuming Guo - China
Andreas Lemme - Germany
Michael Persia - USA
Nick Hudson - UQ
Linda Browning - USyd

For more information please contact:
Tel. +61 2 9351 1656
Email. jo-ann.geist@sydney.edu.au