When can I enrol?

You can only enrol once you have accepted your offer, enrolment is open for your course and you have received an email inviting you to enrol.

What do I need to enrol?

Use this checklist to make sure you're all set to start the enrolment process!

- UniKey and password
- Contact details
- Australian Tax File Number (domestic students)
- Your course handbook
The census date is when your enrolment in your units of study is finalised and you become academically and financially liable.

The census date is the last date you will be able to finalise or withdraw from any units of study, suspend your studies or discontinue your course without it affecting your grades.

What is the census date?

Each session has a deadline for the last day to add a unit of study. For Semesters 1 and 2, this is the end of week two of the semester.

How do I select my major?

You'll be prompted to do this in your Sydney Student during the enrolment task, but you can also change it later.

What major should I choose?

- Handbook

  Check your course handbook! You can find out more detailed information about each major offered, as well as the units and requirements involved.

- Careers Centre

  If you're unsure what major may assist you in future career goals, book an appointment with our Careers Centre staff!

- Academic Advisor

  If you're still unsure of what major to choose, speak to an academic advisor in your faculty. If you don't know who this is, contact the Student Centre and we can assist.
What is Special Permission?

Special Permission is an application process for units of study where you don't meet the standard requirements.

You can submit a special permission application through Sydney Student. You'll need to complete your enrolment first.

Departmental Permission?

Some units of study require faculty or school approval.

You'll be prompted to apply for departmental permission when you select your units of study in the enrolment task in Sydney Student.

You need to make sure you're eligible for the unit and it still meets the requirements of your course.
When things go wrong:

1. I can’t select the major I want!
   - Check your handbook to make sure that the major is offered in your course
   - If it’s offered in your course, contact us!

2. Sydney Student is showing the incorrect unit totals!
   - CLICK HERE to learn about unit reallocation

3. I can’t enrol in a unit due to prereq/coreq
   - You can apply for special permission if you don’t meet the requirements for a unit of study in Sydney Student
   - CLICK HERE to learn about Special Permission

4. How do I enrol in Summer and Winter intensives?
   - You enrol in intensive units the same as units in the main semester, through Sydney Student once enrolment opens
   - CLICK HERE for more info!

5. Did you know that if you hold a student visa, you can only enrol in 6 credit points outside of the regular semester dates and still be meeting your visa conditions?
   - CLICK HERE and scroll to the ‘study load’ section
What units should I enrol in?

First thing is to view your faculty handbook and the requirements to complete your course.

When do I get my student card?

Uploading your photo for your student card is the last step of the enrolment process.

Once we’ve approved your photo, we’ll print your card and send you an email letting you know when to come pick it up.

How do I upload my photo?

As the last step of enrolment, you’ll be asked to upload a passport-style photo.

You'll need to make sure you crop your photo and click the submit button. You will receive a confirmation that it has been submitted.

While you wait for your Student Card to be made ready for collection, you can purchase a SydPay guest card for $2 from a SydPay kiosk. This can be used to pay for printing, laundry services and more!
