

You are here:

TEACHING @ SYDNEY

May 2013

ASCILITE conference call for papers

The Australasian Society for Computers in Learning in Tertiary Education (ASCILITE) encourages and supports research into and exemplary use of technologies for learning and teaching in tertiary education throughout Australasia.

ASCILITE has recently announced the call for papers for its 2013 conference.

The conference will be held from 1-4 December at Macquarie University, Sydney.

Proposals for papers can be submitted under the following themes:

- Learning from the Past
- Understanding our Present
- Imagining the Future

Paper formats include full and concise papers, digital posters, symposia and workshops. For more information about submission of papers and conference registration, click here.
